JURY SETS LITTLE MISS LENEVE FREE

Dr. Crippen's Mistress and Alleged Accomplice Acquitted Following Short Trial in London.

HAD NO PART IN BELLE ELMORE'S DEATH

London, Oct. 25.—After a trial lasting only a few hours in the New Bailey criminal court today, a jury found Ethel Clara Leneve not guilty as an accessory after the fact in the murder of Belle Crippen, for whose death her husband, Dr. Hawley H. Crippen, will die on the gallows on Nov. 8.

Miss Leneve was in love with Dr. Crippen and slept in his house on the night of the day following the day upon which the doctor murdered his wife and buried the dismembered parts in the cellar of his home. She accompanied Crippen in his flight to Canada, and with him was arrested and indicted.

Has Maintained Innocence.

From the first she has maintained innocence of any knowledge of the crime, but the crown alleged that her behavior subsequent to the disappearance of Mrs. Crippen, or Belle Elmore, as she was known on the stage, was such as to betray a guilty knowledge of the murder.

When arraigned today Miss Leneve pleaded not guilty and witnesses were introduced by the prosecution to show that she had experienced periods of great mental distress following Belle Elmore's death. The crown prosecutor, Richard Muir, introduced only such evidence as had been brought out in the earlier hearings.

Under Crippen's Influence.

Miss Leneve's counsel, Frederick E. Smith, M. P., asked the jury to bear in mind that his client had been under the influence of Crippen, one of the most dangerous criminals of recent years. This, he asserted, accounted for her flight in the doctor's company. There was no proof that she had knowledge of the crime. Counsel said he took upon his own shoulders the responsibility for not putting Miss Leneve in the witness box.

Lord Chief Justice Alverstone, who presided, in summing up for the jury, said that he saw no reason why Dr. Crippen should have told Miss Leneve a story different from that which he told to others.

As upon the occasion of the physician's trial, the court room was crowded with members of the legal profession and as many others as could secure a place by right or influence. There was this difference in the audiences: If Crippen had any well-wishers they kept in the background, while there was a noticeable sentiment of sympathy for the girl who for love of a man nearly twice her age had sacrificed her reputation, deserted home and friends and remained true to him even when their association made her liable as an accessory to a brutal murder.

Has Good Counsel.

Miss Leneve was capably represented by counsel who took advantage of every technicality of the law to protect their client. According to the prosecution Miss Leneve's relation to the crime as an accessory began very soon after the death of Mrs. Crippen. In the case made out against the doctor Mrs. Crippen, or Belle Elmore, as she was known on the stage, was murdered on the morning of February 1, and her dismembered body buried in the cellar of the Crippen home at 39 Hilldrop Crescent. Miss Leneve slept in the Crippen home on the night of the day following.

As Miss Leneve sat in the prisoner's dock today she was a pathetic figure. She is 27 years of age, of medium build, light brown hair, gray eyes and excellent teeth. Her face is pretty and she is trim. She wears good clothes becomingly and naturally buoyant and affable, she is a prepossessing woman. She was attired in the same neat blue costume which she wore at the preliminary hearing in the police court. She entered the dock between two wardresses and remained standing during the minutes occupied in the swearing of the jury.

Women Stare at Prisoner.

Miss Leneve was an object for keen scrutiny on the part of the women who composed the majority of the spectators. In reply to the formal charge of being an accessory after the fact to the murder of Belle Elmore, the girl pleaded "not guilty" in a voice that was scarcely audible. Lord Chief Justice Alverstone thereupon called Richard D. Muir, the crown prosecutor, who outlined the case against the accused. It was clear, Mr. Muir said that the intrigue between Dr. Crippen and Miss Leneve constituted the motive for the murder of Crippen's wife. He dwelt upon the evidence given by Mrs. Jackson, Miss Leneve's landlady, at the preliminary hearing and which will be introduced at the trial. The illness of the accused on the night of the interview with Mrs. Jackson was not, the prosecutor said, an ordinary illness, but a condition of horror, the explanation of which was the knowledge that had come to her that Crippen had murdered his wife.

Inspector Dew, of Scotland Yard, who arrested Crippen and Miss Leneve, and the other witnesses for the crown were taken rapidly through the evidence which they had given in the lower courts. No new testimony was brought out and the prosecution closed its case before lunch.

Sketch of Miss Leneve.

Miss Leneve was born at Diss Norfolk on January 22, 1883, the daughter of Walter Leneve, a railway agent. There was nothing unusual about her early life, which appears to have been happy though commonplace. She learned stenography and secured employment at the Drouet institute, where she met Dr. Crippen, who was connected with the institution in a consulting capacity. Later the institute was closed and Dr. Crippen set up for himself in the dental business and took Miss Leneve with him as a stenographer and private secretary.

She fell in love with her employer and after the death of Mrs. Crippen went to live with the doctor and later told her friends that they were married. She has maintained that she knew nothing about the crime, but when suspicion was directed against the doctor she fled with him to Canada, disguised as a boy.

YELLOW EDITOR FINED.

London, Oct. 25.—There was a sequel to the Crippen murder case today, when the high court inflicted a fine of $11,000 upon Assistant Editor Perris for contempt of court in permitting the publication in the London Chronicle of a story asserting that Dr. Crippen had purchased hyoscin and had confessed to the murder of his wife. The court ordered that Perris be imprisoned until the fine is paid.

PRESIDENT HAS BIG JOB TO BEGIN THE DAY

Work on His Desk and a Lot of Engagements to Keep.

Washington, Oct. 25.—When President Taft reached the executive offices today he faced the most formidable engagement list set before him since his return from Beverly. Going over the morning mail with Secretary Norton occupied nearly three-quarters of an hour. There were a number of visitors then to be received.

At 11 o'clock came the regular Tuesday meeting of the cabinet at which the estimates of the war department were taken up. Following the cabinet meeting President Taft became the luncheon guest of the Argentine republic on board the Argentine training ship, Presidente Sarmiento, which is moored at the navy yard.

From the warship the president planned to go to the opening session of the Washington horse show at American league park in this city.

Mrs. Robert Wheeler, who suffered internal injuries in an automobile accident last Thursday morning, from which it was feared at first she would not recover, is reported to be slowly improving at St. Joseph's hospital.

MISSION IS ABANDONED.

Chief of Cuban National Police Ordered to Remain at Home.

Havana, Oct. 25.—Within half an hour of the time of sailing of the steamer Merida, upon which he had been ordered to proceed for Washington with a special diplomatic mission, General Armando Riva, chief of the national police, was ordered ashore today and told to resume his usual duties. It was rumored about the palace that the president's action resulted from a strong remonstrance on the part of American Minister John S. Jackson.

CLARK GIFFORD SELLS OUT.

Frank E. Bougher Purchases His Place on Calhoun Street.

Clark Gifford this afternoon disposed of his saloon on Calhoun street to Frank E. Bougher. Mr. Gifford has not made up his mind whether he will again embark in the business or not. The new proprietor took possession at once.

CURE FOR BLINDNESS.

Atlanta, Ga., Oct. 25.—William Williams, a negro, is in jail here today charged with swindling on account of the peculiar cure for blindness which he devised. His remedy consisted in driving a tack into the back portion of a blind negro's skull and charging $2.50 for the operation. Robert Ward, the victim, told the police court judge that the tack process was not very painful, but that Williams' manner of taking the $2.50 "hurt considerable."

PRESSING SEARCH FOR BALLOONISTS

Effort to Systematize the Efforts Now Making in Canada.

MAN SAYS HE SAW BALLOON THURSDAY

That Was After All Others Are Known to Have Descended.

Ottawa, Ont., Oct. 25.—The work of systemizing the search for the missing aeronauts and their balloons, America II, is well under way here.

From the data already available, and that which is coming in a map, is being prepared upon which the location and time of sighting balloons last week be dotted.

The America II carried provisions for four days and materials for securing fish and game which are plentiful in all parts of the region of Ontario and Quebec where the America II may have landed. Besides this there is always the probability that they will come in contact with hunters, who cover the country thoroughly. The story brought down to Huntsville by Richard Cole, a guide, who has returned from New Ontario, that he sighted a balloon last Thursday, will be investigated.

The most significant part of his story is that he fixed the date as Thursday. The Dusseldorf, Germania and Azurea, the balloons covering the longest distance, came to earth on Wednesday, and if Cole's story stands it will be regarded as unmistakable proof that the America II got safely across Lake Huron.

HURRY RELIEFF BALLOON.

St. Louis, Oct. 25.—Preparations to send a balloon with supplies after Alan R. Hawley and Augustus Post, the crew of the missing America II., were hastened today. Louis von Phul, who will pilot the relief aerostat, expects to leave here tonight for Canada. He plans to begin his aerial hunt from Sault Ste. Marie. That the search for the balloonists is being made by two countries is shown by the telegrams which have been received by the aero club of St. Louis within the last 24 hours. These have come from the heads of the Canadian government and from the signal corps of the United States army and officers of the Canadian railway systems. Already 60 telegrams have been received from persons hunting for the America II. G. L. Mattice, district engineer of the National Transcontinental railway, telegraphed from North Bay, Ont., that he has wired north and will report later. Mr. Mattice's jurisdiction extends over the region in which the local club officials believe the America II. will be found. Other district engineers of the railways have replied in like tone.

Reward for Information.

A reward of $200 was offered today by a company of fur dealers, which has ten thousand correspondents in Canada, for information about the missing aeronauts. Notices of the reward were mailed to the Canadian trappers.

According to Captain John Berry, of St. Louis, who had charge of the inflation of the America II, the last words of Hawley before starting in the race were: "We are good to stay up seventy or eighty hours, and expect to break every record for distance and endurance. I know we are bound for the Canadian wilds, but no timber will stop us. We shall sail as long as the balloon has an ounce of lifting power and take our chance on being found."

"I believe," said Berry, "that Hawley and Post are now down and safe, far in the north of Canada. They told me they had enough food capsules to sustain them a month.

Hawley a Dare-Devil.

"Hawley is a dare-devil whose one principle is to keep up as long as his balloon will carry him. Everybody knows Post's intrepidity from his presence of mind in making an entry in his log book while falling in a balloon in Berlin.

"If they had a bag of sand left they would stop for no wilderness or forest. They had revolvers to shoot game, plenty of ammunition and heavy clothing. I never saw a balloon so completely and scientifically equipped as was the America II.

"The equipment included rifles and ammunition, fur lined coats and boots, a large box of compressed food tablets, matches, salt, knives and fishing tackle, half a dozen cold chickens, a case of crackers, several gallons of water, whisky, brandy and a case of medicine.

SEARCHERS SEND NO WORD.

New York, Oct. 25.—Lines of searchers extending into the wilds of Canada sent no word today of Alan R. Hawley and Augustus Post, who sailed in the balloon America II. from St. Louis Oct. 17 in the international balloon race and have not been heard from since shortly after the start. Members of the Aero Club of America were still anxiously awaiting word of the missing aeronauts, who are believed to have landed somewhere in the Algoma district and are slowly making their way to civilization through the bogs and forests.

A rescue balloon will be sent up in the northern part of Michigan in hopes it may take the direction of America II, and see any distress signals that may have been set after the aeronauts landed.

FLYERS FILL AIR AT BELMONT PARK

BROOKINS UP FOR ALTITUDE RECORD

Good Weather for Flights Brings Out Most of the Aviators.

Belmont Park, Oct. 25.—The preliminary sprints brought out four aviators for the first hourly distance and altitude events of the fourth day in the international aviation tournament here—Hoxsey up for altitude in a Wright; his team mate, Johnstone, out for distance; Latham for distance in a fifty horse power Antoinette, and Claude Graham-White.

Johnstone soon left the circuit and went soaring after Hoxsey. White came down and did not cross the starting line. Latham kept an even keel at about 200 feet up. The wind was given at from ten to fifteen miles an hour and seemed to be freshening. All the hangars gaped wide open and it was evidently to be a day of brisk competition, weather permitting.

A fair sized crowd filled the lower benches of the stands.

Hoxsey kept sweeping in wider circles and was soon lost to sight behind the grand stand. Johnstone was a speck in the clouds.

New Wright Flyer Out.

The aviators took full advantage of the light winds in the hours before the meet opened. The new Wright racer, this time the real one, was uncrated last night and assembled this morning. With Orville Wright in the pilot's seat, it was up this morning for only the second time since it was built. "Who's that?" asked one of the onlookers, as Orville stepped to earth again.

"Why, that's only one of the boys we broke in down at Dayton," answered Wilbur, who was standing near by.

Unofficial timers clocked the first round at a speed of 62 miles an hour. Orville Wright took the turns beautifully and apparently will have no trouble with either the outer or inner course. His new engine has eight cylinders and is said to be capable of from 65 to 75 horse power—more than any Wright machine yet put out. The general design, though whittled down to speed lines, follows the familiar Wright ideas.

Some of the Aviators.

Other aviators out were Claude Grahame-White, who tried his Bleriot for the first time, and the Count de Lesseps. The latter in his passenger-carrying Bleriot, took up four women passengers in successive flights—the Misses Grace, Ethel and Mertha McKenzie, of Toronto, and Mrs. William Beardmore.

At the end of the first hour the score stood:

For altitude—No figures available.

For distance—Latham first, 20 laps, Grahame-White did not finish.

Hoxsey and Johnstone were both circling the field, back from their altitude ascents. De Lesseps was unreported and not in sight.

Le Blanc to Do as He Likes.

Alfred Le Blanc, captain of the French aviation team, received instructions today to withdraw from or compete in the Gordon Bennett race for the international trophy as his judgment dictated. He is still undecided, but adheres to his belief that the course is dangerously obstructed by houses and trees.

There is a movement to have the race flown over the inner course of 2.5 kilometers, which is free from obstructions, but whether the rules of the international federation would permit this change from the prescribed course of five kilometers remains to be seen.

The Gordon Bennett cup was won at Rheims, France, last year by Glenn H. Curtiss on the first international meet and its possession in this country brought the second meet here. If the French aviators—Le Blanc, Aubrun

SECOND HOPE OF RACE MAKES GOOD

SPEED TEST HELD AT SHEEPSHEAD BAY

Jack as Far Outclassed in Game as Jeffries Was at Reno.

Sheepshead Bay, N. Y., Oct. 25.—Barney Oldfield, the automobile driver, easily defeated Jack Johnson, the heavy-weight champion pugilist, in a five-mile automobile race here today. Oldfield won the first two heats of the contest, making a third heat unnecessary. Oldfield won the first heat with a lead of a quarter of a mile, covering the distance in 4 minutes and 44 seconds and in the second heat led Johnson at the finish fifty yards. The time of the second heat was 5 minutes and 14 2-5 seconds.

Barney Oldfield easily defeated Jack Johnson in the first heat of five miles, which was covered in four minutes and forty-four seconds. Oldfield was quicker to get away and he made every post on the course a winning one, finishing about a quarter of a mile ahead of the negro.

In a one mile exhibition race with a flying start Oldfield, in the Blitzen Benz, covered the mile in 44 3-5 seconds.

Oldfield won the second heat and the race from Johnson, covering the five miles in 5 minutes and 14 4-5 seconds. Both were slow in starting, and passing the grand stand the first time the cars were close together with Oldfield on the trail. At the Paddock turn Oldfield took a lead of fifty yards and finally won easily by this margin.

Weather Fine; Track Fast.

Fine, clear weather, with scarcely a breeze, and the track lightning fast, were the conditions which greeted about 6,000 persons who assembled at the track today to see the automobile match race between Johnson and Oldfield.

Both men were on the track several times today and each seemed satisfied with the conditions. Oldfield drove a Knox sixty car and Johnson the Thomas Flyer 60-90. Oldfield's machinician was Frank Brown and Hedmercin, of Chicago, acted in the same capacity for Johnson.

BOYS HELD UNTIL TOMORROW.

Lads Charged With Assault Upon Dr. Geary Get Continuance.

Ed Wilson and Harry Brown, two boys charged with an assault upon Dr. J. K. Geary, were held in the city court this morning until tomorrow morning and furnished bonds of $25 each for their appearance. They say the doctor attacked them and he insists that they entered his barn and beat him.

Carl Rohr, a plain drunk, was let go. Albert Kaskey and Clyde Weimer, held several days for loitering, were advised to return to their homes and told to get out of the city.

FIRE PART OF CONVICTS PLOT.

Blaze in Ohio Penitentiary Destroys One of the Shops.

Columbus, O., Oct. 25.—Convicts of the penitentiary are charged with starting a fire that destroyed stamp shop No. 4 behind the walls of the penitentiary today. Officials say there was a plot among the convicts to escape during the excitement, but this was frustrated by the quick action of the wall guards. The prisoners were all locked in their cells as soon as the fire was discovered.

DAMAGE IMMENSE; LIVES LOST 250

BEAUTY OF SHORES IS OBLITERATED

Great Devastation Wrought by Combination of Elements.

Naples, Oct. 25.—The beautiful coasts of the Bay of Naples and the Gulf of Salerno and the islands of Ischia and Procida have been devastated by a peculiar combination of the elements. The exact number of victims has not been learned, but 250 persons are said to have been killed. The monetary loss is great.

The disaster appears to have come in the form of a cyclone having three centers, the first over the island of Ischia, the second over the town of Torre del Greco on the east coast of the Bay of Naples, and the third sweeping the Gulf of Salerno.

Cyclone, Cloudburst, Tidal Wave, Quake

Accompanying the cyclone were a cloudburst, a tidal wave and violent eruptions from Mount Vesuvius and from a crater suddenly opened on the summit of the long extinct Mt. Epomeo on the island of Ischia.

Ischia and the adjacent islands suffered most. No Americans are reported in the troubled zone, foreigners having recently given that section a wide berth because of the cholera epidemic. Throughout the night much confusion existed as the failure of the electric and telegraph wires left the territory in darkness and without any means of communication. Admiral Leonardi, minister of marine, is at Ischia organizing the relief, for which $400,000 is already available.

Coasts Are Made Hideous.

The coasts of the mainland, which yesterday were beautiful with their growth of orange, lemon and mandarin trees, have been overrun with rivers of mud and ashes from Mount Vesuvius.

Human bodies and the carcasses of dumb animals have been discovered in the molten stream. The unique high road from Sorrento to Amalfi and Salerno formed by terraces in the mountain cliffs and bordered with fruit trees and vines was unrecognizable today. At several points landslides have occurred.

Next to the loss at Ischia the greatest damage was done in the towns of Portici, Torre del Greco, Resina, Amalfi, Sorrento, Macorit, Ravello, Angri, Pontecagnao, Cetara and Montecorvino.

The stationmaster on the railroad at Vietri, a mile and a half west of Salerno, was killed by an electric shock while attempting to telegraph the news of the disaster to other points.

Reports from Ischia describe the situation there as distressing.

Paths of Lucullus Destroyed.

The famous Paths of Lucullus have been destroyed. At some points the lava from Mount Epomeo is twenty feet deep.

When the cyclone was at its height enormous hailstones fell and huge rocks detached from the mountain peaks came tumbling down. Some of these must have weighed several tons. One measured eighty cubic yards.

At Torre del Greco the roof of a building was blown off and, the floors collapsing, carried a sailor, his wife and child of thirteen months into the cellar. The woman was killed and the husband with the babe in his arms escaped from the place only to be drowned in the street. The baby was rescued.

Later and more accurate reports reduce the estimate of fatalities about 100. The greater number of deaths was at Cetara, on the north coast of the gulf of Salerno.

LONG PARADE OF GEESE.

Thirty-five Hundred Birds in Procession in Kentucky Town.

Maysville, Ky., Oct. 25.—An unusual spectacle—a parade of 3,500 geese—was witnessed here today. The birds, which came from the mountains of eastern Kentucky, were lured through the streets by a man dropping corn. The geese were unloaded from a car in the Louisville and Nashville railroad yards, after making the night hideous with their noise. Four thousand were in the flock when the train started from Eastern Kentucky, but several hundred died from overcrowding while in transit. The geese were taken to a farm six miles from this city to be fattened for the eastern market.

CHIEF ELLIOTT ON DUTY AGAIN

Police Chief Ben Elliott, who with his wife had been spending a vacation of a week at Chicago, returned this afternoon and resumed his duties.

AEROPLANIST KILLED.

Magdeburg, Prussia, Oct. 25.—Lieut. Monte fell with a Wright aeroplane today and was instantly killed. The air man was planing to the earth when he started his motor. The strain caused the machine to turn turtle. It crashed to the ground, carrying the lieutenant beneath it. The aeroplane was smashed [illegible].

FROM SICK BED SENDS MESSAGE

Senator B. F. Shively, Ill, is Unable to Come to Fort Wayne.

GREETING TO ALLEN COUNTY DEMOCRACY

Congressmen Clin and Sheppard in Forceful Talks on Tariff Issue.

Confined to his bed at his home in South Bend by illness and unable to come to Fort Wayne for the address which he was to have delivered at Princess rink Monday evening, Senator B. F. Shively dictated in brief form his message to Allen county democracy. It was transmitted in a letter to District Chairman E. G. Hoffman, who read it to the audience in making the announcement that Senator Shively was unable to be present, and the applause which followed was both an endorsement of its sentiments and an expression of sympathy for the gifted senator whom illness has forced out of active participation in the campaign.

Information here is to the effect that the blood poisoning which developed in Senator Shively's foot as the result of an infected corn has reached a serious stage in which symptoms of gangrene are manifest, and that in all probability the senator will be compelled to undergo a surgical operation.

Hear Cline and Sheppard.

The audience, which filled about two-thirds the capacity of Princess rink Monday evening, listened to forceful discussions of the tariff issue by Congressman Cyrus Cline and by Representative Morris Sheppard, of Texarkana, Texas. Judge R. K. Erwin presided at the meeting, and the stage was occupied by prominent democrats who officiated as vice presidents of the meeting. The City Packard band escorted the speakers to the rink.

Congressman Cline in his address devoted himself entirely to the question of taxation, which he declared is the most important issue in the present campaign. There were no oratorical frills in his effort, and it was a plain, practical discussion of the issue that hit the target. Congressman Sheppard, skilled in oratory and possessing a scintillant wit, gave one of the finest political addresses in Fort Wayne in many a day. His originality of expression was striking and again and again both cheers and laughter paid tribute to his power as a speaker. His characterization of ex-President Roosevelt as "the human seidlitz powder" in his reference to the effervescent versatility of the former president in changing from issue to issue evoked roars of laughter, and the address fairly gleamed with flashes of wit that came at the most unexpected moment.

Senator Shively's Message.

Senator Shively's message to the democracy of Allen county, which was read by District Chairman Hoffman, reached the city but an hour before, and was as follows:

"South Bend, Ind., Oct. 24, 1910.—Hon. Edward G. Hoffman, Fort Wayne, Ind.—My Dear Mr. Hoffman: Keener than I can describe is my sense of disappointment and regret because of the ill fortune that prevents my attendance at the meeting in your city tonight. I have been looking forward with pleasure to this occasion to meet the gallant democracy of Allen county to whom I am under so many obligations; to greet the many friends of all parties whose generous good will has made me so much their debtor; to urge with whatever of force I might, the magnitude and importance of the cause on trial in this campaign, and to congratulate the friends of fair play in the struggle of life on the reassuring signs from all quarters of the triumphant success of this cause at the coming election.

"The real issues involved are not to be obscured by vehement declaration in favor of things which nobody opposes and against things which nobody defends. Insurgency in Indiana is much older than the insurgency record of those who pose as its leaders. Four years ago the vote on the congressional tickets disclosed decided revolt against the Dingley act and the multiplying mischiefs attending perversion of the federal taxing power to private and selfish ends. Two years ago the voters of Indiana gave the democracy an aggregate majority of over 13,000 on its congressional tickets, and by returning eleven democratic representatives out of the thirteen districts, flashed the red lights of the coming judgment athwart the startled visions of those who enjoyed official honors and emoluments from a system that makes merchandise of government and a moral shamble of the politics of the country. Making due allowance for minor contributory causes, the lesson was too plain to be misunderstood. The result was accentuated in those districts where the republican candidates most boastfully defended the protection principles and challenged a verdict upon it.

"When the work of the revision of the tariff came on, those eleven democrats stood unfalteringly right on every schedule and paragraph. These men blazed the way and fixed the position of Indiana on the measure before the bill ever reached the senate. The senior senator from Indiana fol-

COUNCIL TO EXTEND FIRE LIMITS AT MEETING

If Measure is Passed Wabash Can Not Rebuild Its Old Depot.

An ordinance has been prepared and will be presented to the city council tonight extending the fire limits south to Murray street between Lafayette and Harrison streets to prevent the construction of any wooden buildings in the territory surrounding the tunnel in course of construction at Calhoun street and the railroad tracks.

If the measure passes it will affect the Wabash company which has in contemplation the erection of an addition to its present passenger station and also insure that in the remodeling of the structures immediately surrounding the crossing will be built of brick or some other fireproof material.

No Report in Sight.

No report from the track elevation of the special council committee was in sight today, and there is little probability that the measure for the vacation of street, which embodies clauses giving the Pennsylvania company additional trackage, will be ready for submission tonight.

There is a compromise measure that may remove the only obstacle which arises out of a difference of opinion as to the width of Webster street when it shall be extended under the track. The councilmen want seventy feet and the company wants sixty. It is possible that the two interests will agree upon a split and make it sixty-five.

Resolution is Prepared.

A resolution will be presented tonight ratifying the action of the board of public works on the matter of the Spy Run avenue sidewalks. A heated argument on this subject entered into the last meeting of the council in which an effort was made to put the body on record as opposed to the manner in which the trolley poles had been set.

Councilmen who have investigated, are of opinion that the board has followed the plan best adapted to the situation and they want to have this recorded in the proceedings in the shape of a resolution that will be introduced by Mr. Pinniger.

Sanitary Officers Insistent.

Backed by a communication from the city board of health, the sanitary police force will insist upon a raise in salary that has already been relegated by the council. An increase of $15 a month or $960 a year will be asked for the chief sanitary officer, while the other members of the force want $75 a month instead of $65, which they are now receiving.

Late today there had been no report from the fees and salaries committee on the subject of increasing the pay of the members of the city police force. The members are split up on the question and the matter will probably be threshed out in the meeting.

and Latham—should default the meet would lose much of its zest.

John B. Moissant was expected to be a factor in the day's flying, having worked all night and completed repairs on his passenger-carrying Bleriot, which was badly smashed Sunday.

Besides the hourly distance and altitude, daily duration and fastest flight competitions, there was another grand altitude flight on the program, in which it was expected some of the other aviators would try to set new figures beyond those made by J. Armstrong Drexel yesterday in his upward flight to a mark of 7,105 feet. Another feature of the program was the cross country flight.

Baldwin in New Machine.

Captain Thomas Baldwin in his new biplane, was out for a trial spin this morning and made several circuits of the field at a speed that will make him a factor in the elimination trials.

The aviator made the first round, a distance of 1.55 miles, in less than two minutes and followed it up with four flights of the same speed. A few minutes later Baldwin was again in the air.

This time his machine flew faster, turning the course several times under two minutes. Baldwin complained that the northeast turn was perilous, owing to the danger of drifting into the trees.

Frank B. Coffyn, of the Wright brothers' camp, came out to qualify for his pilot's license this morning. He made two circuits of the field, dipping and doing a switch back on the far turn. He misunderstood his orders and was sent over the course a second time, landing just across the line, then into the air for 300 feet, and went the qualifying round. The committee signed his license.

Took Up Young Woman.

Count Jaques De Lesseps had his big Bleriot monoplane out during the morning and put its passenger-carrying capabilities to use. He took up with him for a short flight Miss Grace McKenzie, of Toronto. The count, with his fair passenger, made two short circuits of the field, making a graceful landing.

ROOSEVELT INSISTS.

Declares Dix Was in Wall Paper Trust as Alleged.

Canandaigua, N. Y., Oct. 25.—The controversy between Theodore Roosevelt and John A. Dix, democratic nominee for governor, was carried forward another step today.

Colonel Roosevelt made it clear that he had no intention of making an apology.

"There was only one Standard Wall Paper company in existence at the time the decree of the supreme court was handed down," said he.

"The Standard Wall Paper company was mentioned in that decree. I know nothing of what internal arrangements were made."

The original Standard company, Colonel Roosevelt said, went into the trust and difficulties arose and the trust entered suit against one of the subsidiary concerns, the Voight company. The Standard company, he said, was a party to the suit through the trust.

"Mr. Dix becam ea director in the Standard Wall Paper company in June, 1907," he continued, "and the supreme court decision was not rendered until February, 1909."

SEEKS BIG DAMAGES AS RESULT OF DEBAUCH

Lad Wants $10,000 of Saloon Man and Brewers—Courts.

Alleging that he was plied with liquor in the saloon of Elmer E. Williams at Huntertown until he staggered from the building in a drunken stupor and fell upon the tracks of the Toledo and Chicago Interurban Railway company and was run down and so injured by a car that it was necessary to amputate his left leg just below the knee, Vincent Grams has entered suit in the superior court against Williams and Charles F. and Louis Centlivre asking $10,000 damages.

Williams is sued as principal and the Centlivres as surety on the bond given at the time the license for the saloon was issued. The action is filed in the name of the state on relation of Grams through his father, Joseph E. Grams.

The complaint sets out that on September 6, of this year, Vincent Grams, who is a minor, bought and drank beer in the saloon until he was rendered helplessly drunk and that by reason of this condition he sustained his injury. A second paragraph asserts that the liquor was sold to him by Charles Williams, who was a bartender in the employ of the owner of the saloon. James E. Pomeroy and E. V. Harris are the attorneys.

Thinks Wife Dangerous.

William H. Burnside, in a divorce complaint against Margaret E. Burnside, said that at various times during their married life she threatened to poison him, struck at him with a corn cutter, took a slash at him with a butcher knife and tried to scalp him with a hoe.

She is also accused of having called him bad names and the husband says she refused to allow him to go to bed, saying if he did she would kill him.

Court Notes.

Evidence was heard today in the superior court in the action instituted by the South African Importing company to prevent County Treasurer William A. Scheiman from collecting fees from the concern on the ground that it is an itinerant vender. County Assessor Eggemann insisted on the payment of the fees, but the concern contends it is permanently located here.

Eva Stiegerwald has instituted suit in the superior court against John Stiegerwald. The parties have been in court several times before. McAdams and Hartzell filed the suit.

The trial of John Smith and Patrick Burke on the charge of robbing Albert Bixler was on in the circuit court today.

A call has been issued to the members of the grand jury to appear tomorrow morning in the circuit court.

TAFT CONGRATULATES THEM.

Washington, Oct. 25.—President Taft today sent letters of congratulations to the winners of the three most important championship matches shot at the national rifle tournament, held at Camp Perry Ohio, in August last. Paris, Oct. 25.—President Fallieres and the members of the cabinet are being guarded constantly as the result of the appearance of anarchistic circulars condemning the ministers to death because of the conviction in the courts of the militant members among the railway strikers.

WISE WORDS.

A Physician On Food.

A physician of Portland, Oregon, has views about food. He says:

"I have always believed that the duty of the physician does not cease with treating the sick, but that we owe it to humanity to teach them how to protect their health, especially by hygienic and dietetic laws.

"With such a feeling as to my duty I take great pleasure in saying to the public that in my own experience and also from personal observation I have found no food to equal Grape-Nuts, and that I find there is almost no limit to the great benefit this food will bring when used in all cases of sickness and convalescence.

"It is my experience that no physical condition forbids the use of Grape-Nuts. To persons in health there is nothing so nourishing and acceptable to the stomach, especially at breakfast, to start the machinery of the human system on the day's work.

"In cases of indigestion I know that a complete breakfast can be made of Grape-Nuts and cream and I think it is not advisable to overload the stomach at the morning meal. I also know the great value of Grape-Nuts when the stomach is too weak to digest other food.

"This is written after an experience of more than 20 years, treating all manner of chronic and acute diseases and the letter is written voluntarily on my part without any request for it."

Read the little book, "The Road to Wellville," in packages. "There's a Reason."

Ever read the above letter? A new one appears from time to time. They are genuine, true and full of human interest.

CURLY CANINES ACT AS BRIDESMAIDS IN NEW YORK

Japanese Spaniels in Role of Honor Also on the Floor.

New York, Oct. 25.—Although they had been rehearsed carefully, the bridemaids at the wedding yesterday afternoon of Mrs. Mary Schley Bowen, a San Francisco society woman, and Percy W. Evans, head of a shipping concern of Seattle, came near breaking up the ceremony.

All tricked out in their best bib and tucker, wearing big pink bows around their necks and frocks of Japanese embroidered satin, the three bridemaids entered the room decorously enough at the end of a triple leash held by the bride, but the minute the Rev. E. L. Copefield began to speak they forgot their manners and began to caper about as if they were on a lark. It took all the soothing efforts of the best man, Arthur Delroy, to keep them fairly quiet.

For the bridemaids were not at all the usual kind of bridemaids. No, indeed. They were three high pedigreed young things from the court of the Japanese Mikado, and their liveliness was due to the fact that they weren't persons at all but dogs, glad to be with their mistress after a separation of months.

Descendants of Great Otoyo-Kalo.

The trio of canine bridemaids are descendants of the great Otoyo-Kalo, the forefather of a long line of Japanese spaniels, which have their home in the imperial kennels in Tokio. Their names are Otoyo, Kondoh-San, Pinka-San and Geisha, and they were given to Mrs. Evans by a friend high in favor at the Mikado's court. Until their mistress went to Europe a few months ago they had not been separated from her since they were given to her.

The three spaniels were washed and combed and brushed within an inch of their lives yesterday morning by Foon Chuck, the Chinese servant of their mistress, and shortly before the ceremony their Sunday-go-to-meeting frocks were put on. These were gorgeous affairs, and there peeped from the breast pocket of each one a lace handkerchief.

The wedding was at the home of Mr. Delroy, and in a setting as Japanese as the bridemaids. This was quite appropriate, for Mrs. Schley Bowen and Mr. Evans met while traveling in Japan about a year ago and Mr. Delroy, who makes a living by exposing mediums and eastern Yogi and oriental psychics, has spent many years in the far east. His apartment is artistically furnished with many rare objects of art from the orient.

Oriental Atmosphere at Wedding.

The bridal couple stood on a large rug made of the skins of civets, baby wolves, and minks by Siberian convicts, and 300 candles in antique Japanese scones shed a light on the scene. On a pedestal near the improvised altar stood a hideous grinning dog of Chinese porcelain, and close by, against the wall, a great bronze Buddha smiled benignly in his gilded niche.

Mrs. B. F. Caldwell, of San Francisco, was the matron of honor, and she helped the best man restrain the frolics of the bridemaids. After the ceremony there was a dinner at the Waldorf, but the bridemaids weren't invited to that, although they were once guests of honor at a dog dinner given by Mrs. Eugene Clarke, wife of the opera singer.

WABASH SETTING COLUMNS.

Supports for the Bridge at Calhoun Street Placed.

The Wabash company has begun the work of setting columns for the bridge over the tunnel at Calhoun street and will be ready in the course of a short time to put in the overhead iron work. The other work is progressing slowly, as the men digging for gas mains and conduits are being held back by the supports of the casings for the Pennsylvania retaining walls.

QUIET IN HONDURAS.

New Orleans, Oct. 25.—The revolutionary sentiment in Honduras has apparently vanished since the last attempt by followers of former President Bonilla to overthrow the government, according to Drew Linard, for the past three years United States consul at Ceiba. Mr. Linard is en route to Washington, where he has been called by the state department.

GETS SOME BIG GAME.

E. W. Cook, secretary of the Citizens' Trust company, who is now with a party of Fort Wayne gentlemen enjoying a hunting expedition in Canada, has written friends here that he has been successful as a Nimrod to the extent of bringing down a big moose.

The result has been that Mr. Cook's friends are indulging in the anticipation of a moose dinner when the party returns to Fort Wayne.

OUSTER SUIT GOES OVER.

Jefferson City, Mo., Oct. 25.—The ouster suit against the International Harvester company of America was continued today in the supreme court until the January term. The ouster suit against the lumber companies will be heard in the April term.

SOCIALISTS GROW RABID.

Paris, Oct. 25.—When parliament reassembled today after the recess, the extreme socialists in the chamber who are determined to champion the cause of the railway strikers, made a violent demonstration against M. Lepine, prefect of police, who was present as a spectator. They cried "down with Lepine" and demanded his expulsion from the building. President Henri Brisson was compelled to adjourn the session which was resumed after the prefect had retired.

TEN-YEAR-OLD TRAIN WRECKER.

Lexington, Ky., Oct. 25.—"Just to see the cars jump the track" was the reason given today by Morgan Douglass, 10-year-old, for his confessed attempts to wreck interurban cars between this city and Paris, Ky., yesterday. Three cars were endangered by spikes driven between the rail points, but only one struck the obstruction.

EQUIPPED PARTY TO HUNT WITH HIS BOOTY

Martin Hayes Bought Air Guns for Himself and His Friends.

With money stolen from one of the wagons of the Fort Wayne Dairy company, Martin Hayes, fifteen years old, and living at 102 Riverside avenue, bought air guns for himself and two negro boys by the name of Mourning, and the party spent the day in the woods yesterday.

This morning Detective Sergeant Pappert got hold of the Hayes boy and secured a confession from him in which he admitted that he took the money and told how he had spent part of it. He still had nearly $5 which the detective recovered.

For a time Hayes was employed as a helper on the wagon which was in charge of Moritz Baller. He knew that the driver usually carried money with him, and yesterday morning he watched his opportunity, and when he went to deliver some milk the lad climbed into the wagon and secured a bag containing $10 or $12.

Money has been missed by a number of people who left it out in bottles for the milkman, and while the police have no evidence against the prisoner, they think he committed the thefts.

Hayes lives with his stepfather, Plennie A. Parker, who is employed as a driver by one of the city garbage collectors.

GOES BACK TO REGIMENT.

Private Earl, Stranded Here, Gets Help From War Department.

Harry Earl, private in the Eighth cavalry, who was stranded in Fort Wayne while on his way to visit his home in Mitchell, Ind., was sent back to his regiment, which is stationed at Fort Robinson, Neb., this morning. Earl has been awaiting transportation for four days and this morning Sergeant Seiler, in charge of the local recruiting station, who has been furnishing him meals and a place to sleep, received word from the main recruiting office of this district, located at Toledo, that the military authorities at Washington had wired instructions to furnish him transportation.

Less than two hours after Earl had left for Fort Robinson, Grover E. Nuttie, troop I, Eighth cavalry, who is on a furlough, and who came as far as Fort Wayne with Earl, appeared before Sergeant Seiler and blandly asked for transportation back to Fort Robinson, telling the sergeant that he wanted to leave next Tuesday. Sergeant Seiler politely inquired if the entire Eighth cavalry was on a furlough and if they were all going to apply to him for transportation back to Fort Robinson.

GEORGIA MEN HERE DELIGHTED WITH FORT WAYNE

Officials Come North Seeking Horses for Fire Department.

"I don't know how long we shall stay; Fort Wayne is the prettiest town I ever saw and I am in no hurry to leave it," declared W. J. McClaine, a member of the city council at Lagrange, Georgia, this morning. Councilman McClaine, accompanied by C. W. Collis, chief of the Lagrange fire department, arrived in Fort Wayne last night in quest of horses suitable for service in the fire department of the southern city.

"The southern horses," said Mr. McClaine, "are all too light for work of this kind, and we are trying to purchase some animals that will be able to handle the fire apparatus efficiently. We have seen some excellent horses in this city, and your Assistant Chief Jasper, as well as everybody else we have met in Fort Wayne, has been extremely kind to us." Chief Collins and Councilman McClaine were being driven about the city when The Sentinel representative found them.

"Chief Collins is a northern man who knows this country," continued Mr. McClaine. "He came to our city about fifteen years ago from Coldwater, Mich., and we have sort o' made a southerner out o' him, but this is my first trip to the north and I'm delighted with it. Somehow or other I had gotten the impression that the northern folks were rather stiff and reserved, but I've found them kindness itself. I tell you all the good people are not in Georgia."

The southern officials came to Fort Wayne from Cincinnati. They will visit Auburn, Coldwater and other points and may be in this vicinity a week or ten days before they return home.

THE RETORT COURTEOUS.

While a bitterly waged war was in progress in Washington among the women of a well known organization, in which there were two militant camps, many cruel, biting things were said by the one of the other. A gracious matron, noted for her consummate tact and the skill with which she handles difficult stuations, essayed the part of peacemaker, with the result that, being a person of nice discernment, she at once abandoned the plan. She called upon Mrs. Brown, who was the candidate against Mrs. Jones. Mrs. Brown complained bitterly that her opponent had wilfully misrepresented facts and showed certain infirmities of taste and temper, for which there could be no excuse.

"Well," said the ambassadress, who was friendly with both leaders, "you should not let the passion of politics narrow your horizon, my dear. You should be broad visioned enough to make reasonable allowances for what you consider unlovely harshness. You fail to reason that Mrs. Jones' age may be telling on her."

"What ingratitude!" ejaculated Mrs. Brown. And the tactful woman knew that her mission was futile.

FARMER MADE $1,215 FROM FIVE ACRES

That Amount Made in Six Months by Whitley Farmer from His Onion Crop.

Columbia City, Ind., Oct. 25.—Last April David L. Pence, of Smith township, in this county, who owns a farm of 177 acres along the banks of Blue river, with his two sons, put out a patch of five acres in onions for the purpose of learning wether such a crop would be a paying investment. He kept an accurate account of all the money paid out and the time given in work, and, having sold his crop, has concluded that the raising of onions is a pretty good business.

Mr. Pence was in the city yesterday making a settlement with his buyers and he gives the figures for the investment made by himself and sons. They raised 3,415 bushels of onions on the five acres and sold the crop for $1,421.77. After paying all expenses, labor, seed and marketing, which amounted to $206.56, they had just $1,215.15, which amount was deposited in the bank.

Mr. Pence and his sons did not devote all of their time to the onion crop by any means, but raised the usual crops from a large farm, as well as helping to care for the butter and eggs, potatoes, apples, cabbage and the other many small products that makes the average farmer a living.

FRACTURED HIS SKULL.

Injured by Falling From Car and Taken to Hospital.

Garrett, Ind., Oct. 25.—Elmer Johnson and John Olson, employed at work on the new B. & O. depot job here, went to Huntington Saturday evening and drank heavily at the saloons there. Later they concluded to go to Fort Wayne and Olson boarded a southbound car after it had gone about a block, supposing that his partner was already aboard. Finding that he had left Johnson behind, Olson stepped off the car backwards, while it was running, and fractured his skull. He was brought to the Sacred Heart hospital here. Johnson was taken to Auburn, found guilty of public intoxication, and fined $10.80 or fifteen days in jail. He chose to stay in jail rather than pay.

The bond was signed by Michael F. Belger, Charles F. Centlivre, Frank E. Bougher, William Kaough, Henry Hildemann and Lewis B. King. The accused man feels that he will be acquitted of the charge when the case comes to trial.

Hoffman, both of Fort Wayne.

SEIZED WITH PELLAGRA.

Italian Laborer at Marion Ill With Disease.

Marion, Ind., Oct. 25.—Toni Frabizio, an Italian laborer, employed in the construction of the double tracking of the Pennsylvania railroad through Marion, staggered into the police station Monday, a victim of the dread Pellagra, known in the south as sleeping sickness. Officers were almost dumbfounded at the strange appearance of the sick man, who was accompanied by a fellow countryman, and they lost no time in summoning Dr. McQuown, city health officer. Frabizio has been working in Marion but ten days, and he cannot speak or understand English. Since he has been in the city his health has been declining, and his companion stated he had worked but three days. He is about 21 years of age and ordinarily robust, but the malady has taken away much of his flesh and he seemed in great pain. Frabizio came to Marion from the south and it is believed he contracted the disease from his countrymen beyond the Ohio river.

"POLLARD DAY" IN BAVARIA.

It was Judge William Jefferson Pollard, of St. Louis, Mo., who devised the new famous "Pollard pledge," which has swept around the whole world.

Judge Pollard believed that there might be better ways of reforming drunkards than sending them to the workhouse. He determined to try one method which had occurred to him. He accordingly made the next drunkard who appeared before him promise to refrain from drinking for one year, and to report to him once a week during that period, with sentence hanging over him if his pledge were broken. It worked well and the judge has used it in thousands of other cases, with a 90 per cent. record of success.

Now every drunkard can be so dealt with. Some are so brutal that unconditional sentence must be passed upon them; but with the vast majority of such offenders, it has proven effective.

The "Pollard pledge" has become a law in Vermont. It has even been enacted into a law by the British parliament. Australia and New Zealand are contemplating its adoption, and so are many other countries.

The German Federated Temperance societies have just had a great meeting at Augsburg. They set aside September 30 as one to especially commemorate the wonderful plan of the distinguished St. Louis reformer, who was their guest of honor.—Christian Herald.

London sheriff must have thought time was beginning to hang heavy on Doc Crippen's hands. Moved the day for hanging forward a week, but still gives the condemned gentleman three Sundays to think it over.

Belva Lockwood, lawyer, suffragist, politician, publicist and twice candidate for the presidency, has just passed her eightieth milestone, and is hearty, active, keen and vigorous. Maybe Belva will, old as she is, live to see the glad time. It is not as far off as it was when she began to pull for it.

In the recent forest fires in the northwest timber to the value of $15,000,000 was destroyed on government reservations. That is a vast amount of timber and we can ill afford to lose so much from our resources. Preventing and fighting forest fires is a part of the work of conservation program of which so much is heard. The forest service developed by Mr. Pinchot has, since his dismissal from the place of chief forester, come to be regarded in the interior department as the embodiment of a lot of expensive and idealistic nonsense. But it doesn't cost $15,000,000 a bunch.

The storm clouds gather and darkly they frown upon the Empire state. One college professor has projected the colonel into his own Ananias club and another leading educator has denominated him the big wind which will subside after November 8. The colonel charges full tilt upon Democratic Candidate Dix and accuses him of being a trust monger. Candidate Dix comes right back and says the colonel has either been misinformed or deliberately falsified and in either case owes him the apology one gentleman owes to another in all situations similar. The colonel, be it noted, has but just started on his campaign in New York. It is a fine, warm start and affords every prospect of becoming finer and warmer as it progresses. Judge Alton Brooke Parker will get his storm generator unlimbered and a-going in due time and his love for the colonel as an object of attention is surpassed nowhere. It looks now as though the Ananias club would have to begin at once to enlarge quarters and prepare for as busy a season as it has ever known.

From Washington comes an intimation that next session of congress will see a joint assault by insurgents and democrats on the Payne-Aldrich tariff. Somewhat west of here Insurgent Chieftain Cummins has been saying that anything Payne and Aldrich and Dalzell and the interests they work for could possibly do in the way of ultra-protection would be better than anything the democrats could do in the reform of the revenue laws. If that's the state of the case probably it would be better to just go ahead and get a democratic house this fall and a democratic senate and president two years from this fall and show the snorting skeptics and howling doubters that the democratic party can do things to the cost of living without impairing the means of living. And it looks like just that were coming.

This is the limit—the end of it all. Navy department officials claim to have discovered an ancient tome which embraces an account of the discovery of the north pole by an English monk way back in the fourteenth century, more than one hundred and thirty years before Columbus discovered America and five and a half centuries before Commander Peary stood on the arctic center. This is the sublimation of envy; the quintessence of mean-spirited jealousy. Why did not the naval officials dig out this information and flash it when our old friend Doc Cook was out in the spotlight, receiving the favor of royalty and two thousand dollars for every two hours on the one night stand circuit? That was the time. Why wait until their fellow officer and brother, whose shining deed has shed such dazzling renown upon the whole American navy, came forth with his proofs, his honors and his rewards and then spring this thing on him to cheapen his own adventure? The notion of it! A monk, barefooted, most likely, wearing only the wonted coarse robe of his order, with no special types of clothes with fur inside and outside, no condensed soup and beef and pemmican, no kodaks, no stop-watches, no fountain pens, no gumdrops, no wireless telegraphy, no newspapers, no rival and no anything to make the feat practicable or worth reporting, goes up over the snow and ice and finds the pole and comes back making no noise about it and finally allowing the news to subside into a secret of the centuries to be sprung as this tale has been sprung. It is a mean trick if the monk's story is true and a whole lot meaner if it isn't true. Those envious spirits in the navy department waited until the precise psychological moment, exploding the bomb just when the new captain is sewing some more buttons on his uniform. They will merit whatsoever fate o'ertakes them.

FATE'S TRICK ON DOLLIVER

Iowa Senator Had Chance to Become President, But He Sidestepped in 1900, Giving Roosevelt Place.

Senator Jonathan P. Dolliver, of Iowa, whose death has recently occurred, might have been president of the United States. This is a little bit of political history that is not generally known and was related confidentially by the senator himself. Had he so willed he would have been nominated for vice president with William McKinley in the place of Theodore Roosevelt.

Such a nomination would have elevated Dolliver to the presidency and would have changed the political history of the last ten years. Senator Dolliver's wife, who was a niece of D. K. Pearson, the Chicago millionaire, was possibly responsible for his refusal to accept this nomination.

Hanna Was Having Trouble.

"Some months before the convention that nominated McKinley the second time, Mark Hanna, who was managing Mr. McKinley's campaign, met me in Chicago and told me some of the difficulties he was experiencing in securing a runningmate for McKinley. 'I wish,' he said to me, 'that you would accept this nomination.'

"I told Mr. Hanna that I expected and hoped to be elected United States senator from Iowa, that I regarded the vice presidency as a shelving place, and that I was not a candidate for a political sarcophagus. Then he asked me if I would permit the use of my name, promising that at the proper time it would be withdrawn. He told me there were several undesirable candidates in the field. He explained that the use of my name would keep down this list of undesirable candidates and I agreed with him that the mention of my name in connection with so distinguished an office could do me no harm and might be of value to me.

Urged Him to Take It.

"When I went down to Philadelphia shortly before the convention I discovered that my candidacy had assumed serious proportions. My colleagues in the house had taken hold of the matter and my nomination was assured unless Mr. Hanna kept his promise. I went to him and told him that it was time for him to redeem his pledge.

"His reply was, 'Dolliver, we are up against it. There is no man in the field who will make a suitable candidate.' I said to him, 'Why not nadre Roosevelt?' He told me he understood that was a movement on among the Platt republicans of New York to nominate Roosevelt in order to shelve him and get him out of New York, but he said he understood that Mr. Roosevelt would not accept the nomination. He did not express any objection to Roosevelt.

"After some conversation he authorized me to call on Mr. Roosevelt, put the situation up to him and to assure him he could have the vice presidential nomination if he wanted it. I called on Mr. Roosevelt at his hotel.

Roosevelt First Demurred.

"When I told him the situation he demurred on the ground that he understood that neither McKinley nor Hanan desired him. I assured him that he was mistaken. Then he said to me, biting his words as he uttered them, 'It seems singular that the men who can make me governor of New York want me to be vice president, and those who can make me vice president want me to be governor of New York.'

"After an extensive conversation I told him that if he desired to be vice president the thing for him to do, and all that was necessary for him to do was to go and see Mark Hanna, and he finally consented to do so. We went to Hanna's room together. Hanna said: 'Mr. Roosevelt, if you want this nomination all you will have to do is to say so,' and Mr. Roosevelt finally said that he would not refuse the nomination if it were given him.

"We left Mr. Hanna's room and in order to forestall the possibility of Mr. Roosevelt's changing his mind I stopped in at the Associated Press office and gave out the information that Mr. Roosevelt had consented to accept the nomination.

"And that," concluded Senator Dolliver, "is how near I came to being president of the United States."

Mr. Dolliver laughed when he told the story, but there was in his voice a note of regret over the fact that he had not accepted that momentous nomination.

TRAGEDIES OF EDUCATION.

Thousands of Trained Teachers Are Without Employment in England.

(London Letter to Denver Republican.)

One of the most crying scandals has just been revealed by the council recently organized on behalf of the unemployed teachers in London. Through the false economy and mismanagement of the London county council in overstocking the training colleges, thousands of qualified teachers are starving.

Six thousand teachers leave the training colleges annually after five or seven years' special study to find themselves in an over-crowded market. Of this number only one thousand are engaged by the educational authorities. Thus vacancies could be filled a hundred times over.

Most of these teachers are out of work, others have accepted any employment to earn a living. This scandalous state of affairs is revealed in the letters that have reached the committee's offices. Educated young women are serving as waitresses in cheap restaurants, doing laundry work, hawking needlework from door to door, and are serving in saloons as barmaids. Of the highly qualified men teachers, two have become farm laborers. A third is a clerk in a clothing factory at $2.25 a week and works from 9 in the morning to 7 in the evening; this man spent seven years in a training college.

One girl living in Islington writes: "Glorious news! After thirteen months of unemployment I have at last obtained a post as daily governess near Regent's park at the enormous salary of $2 a week. It's just enough to keep me from starvation, for I shall have to pay thirty cents a week car fare." This girl was trained for five years as a pupil teacher, spent two years at college, then made ninety-eight applications for posts in London and 250 for posts in the provinces.

Some of them have painful experiences when in search of work. One girl went to a village in the north of England to interview a clergyman who wanted a governess and when leaving the vicar said to her, referring to the question of traveling expenses which prospective employers are expected to pay:

"It may be one month, or two, or more before I can pay you. I believe your train goes at 4:45. Good afternoon." The poor girl had traveled for miles and she was not offered even a cup of tea; furthermore, she did not get the situation.

Another highly educated girl is addressing envelopes at seventy-five cents a thousand. Before resorting to this, she had made 110 applications for a situation as teacher.

Some of the statements made in the letters almost pass belief. One qualified teacher who is a member of the territorial army was apparently just saved from starvation by his camp allowance. Among the situations filled by unemployed teachers in addition to those mentioned are the following: House painter, photographer's odd man, holiday governess (unsalaried), assistant governess at $75 a year and living out, printer's reader and grocer's assistant.

The awful point about all these cases is, that through the curious policy of the London country council all these young people were trained in the definite expectation of entering a well paid profession.

DICKENS ANNIVERSARY STAMP.

A Movement on Foot to Give Tardy Justice to Great Author's Heirs.

(St. Louis Republic.)

A movement is on foot to celebrate the one hundredth anniversary of the birth of Charles Dickens, not by mural tablet, statue or memorial window, but by the raising of a fund to relieve the needs of certain of his three surviving children ad seventeen grandchildren, who are much straitened in means. This takes an up-to-date form in the sale of a specially designed stamp to bring two cents in America and one penny in England. The contributor is expected to affix one of these stamps in each volume of Dickens' works which he may own.

Dickens seems likely to last while the English language lasts, unless the Anglo-Saxon race should lost that sense of humor which is one of its most precious possessions. Readers of Frank R. Stockton's "Squirrel Inn" will remember Mr. Tippongray, engaged in the translation of "Pickwick Papers" into Greek for fear it should i nthe wreck of the literature of a less worthy language. We recall the translation by a charming Vassar girl of the passage running, "Cause a coachman may he on the very amicablest terms with eighty mile o' females"—which phrase appeared as "Because he who drives a vehicle of the post road may look with affection upon a woman of eighty far distant." It was not a success.

Dickens will live and die with the tongue in which he wrote, and—sad as it may seem—he has already demonstrated his ability to remain fixed in the affections of millions despite the demonstrations of the critics that they ought to read Thomas Hardy and Mrs. Homphrey Ward instead.

Raymond Greek, 819 East Washington street, received several cuts on the head Monday afternoon, when his wheel, which he was riding, collided with a buggy driven by Mrs. Stephen Bond at the corner of Washington and Lafayette streets.

THE TRUTH ABOUT "PANTS."

Here Is Revealed the Hollow Mockery of the Tailor's Measurement System.

(Emerson Hough in November Everybody's.)

When a tailor puts you on the measuring box, with a man guarding the door so that you can't get away, and another man making a book on the game, he reels off something like this, as he goes about you with his measuring tape: "13—2—11—16—8—4—18—11—46—Gee, you're beginning to get a front, ain't you?—6½—17—side and two hips, Jimmie—33½—26—Can you come in tomorrow or Friday?—19—6—house or a flat, did you say?—28—Custom of the house to have a deposit on all orders—16—What was that last, Jimmie, did I say? Oh, make it 23 in the middle—What did you say your name was, mister?"

Having selected from the mass of papers on his desk a set of figures which suits him, he goes behind his counter, yawns, looks in the glass, smooths down his hair, hunts for the place where he left his cigar and at last picks up a thing which looks like a board rule with a curve in the corner like a hockey stick. If you are not watching him he will probably cut your pants by ear and will not bother to use this implement; but if you insist upon inspection he'll make pretense of scientific use of this instrument, whose real nature or purpose no human being knows, or ever will know.

What the tailor isthinking of, as he begins to make chalk marks on a piece of blue paper, using this rule as a straight edge, is the "joy ride" he is going to have with Marie in his new auto that evening. It makes no difference to him whether the chalk slips or not, nor is it important how far along this or that angle he allows the straight or curved line to run. He knows they are not going to fit, anyhow, so why should he bother about it overmuch? The only hope you can possibly have, meantime, is the one raised in your bosom when the tailor, from behind his counter, looks up and says: "Jimmie, why in the world didn't you mark the name on this gent's pants? Oh, well, never mind."

The tailor goes on, making several cute little pictures on the blue paper by aid of this curved thing, which has numbers scattered along it here and there. He draws in several isosceles triangles converging at more or less the same point, but, not liking the looks of these, he rubs out some of the lines and tries over again. Then he forgets which ones he rubbed out. It makes no difference, anyhow. At last he stands off, critically gazes upon the patterns which he has been casting, makes a hit-or-miss crosswise dab with the chalk—which determines, wholly by chance, how long your pant is going to be—and smiles to himself.

Yesterday Mrs. Kate Dustman, of East Wayne street, received from the Degree of Honor $500 in payment of the life policy held by her late husband, George Dustman, who died in September.

WHERE THE WOMEN RULE.

Picturesque Conditions Among the Beautiful Natives of Tehuantepec.

(E. Alexander Powell, F. R. G. S., in the November Everybody's.)

Woman dominates the city on the torrid Isthmus of Tehuantepec. Here her rights are recognized and undisputed. The women run the place and do 90 per cent. of the business. A striking characteristic of these Tehuana beauties is their commercial enterprise. In the market place, where most of the bartering is done, they reign supreme. The wife owns the property, she holds the family purse strings, and she must even vouch for the husband before he can obtain credit. Not only are the women the power in the district, but they are fully aware of it; they delegate all of the menial work, save the cooking, to the men, and devote their energies to trade, which is so fully in their hands that all commercial transactions in Tehuantepec are done by them or require their sanction. They are Tehuantepec—they in their barbaric colors—treading the earth as if it were theirs, while the little men shamble about with the dogs, the one as degraded as the other.

The greatest power in the entire district is, indeed, a certain old woman who rules the countryside by means of her wealth and shrewdness. Through money lending she has got many of the people, officials and civilians, into her hands, and is therefore in a position to have her advice accepted and her dictates obeyed. Every important transaction, political or financial, requires her approval; no official could be elected or hold office in the district for a minute unless given her support; illustrious strangers would not dream of crossing the isthmus without stopping at her plantation to pay their respects; the railway contractors depend on her to keep their turbulent workmen in order, and the president himself is not above seeking her advice. General Diaz has always had a warm spot in his heart for Tehauntepec, very much as you always regard with a certain liking the boy whom you once licked; for many years ago—he was plain Captain Diaz then—he was the commander of the little garrison here and quelled a revolt by clapping all the women into jail. The next morning there were no tortillas and there was no one to prepare them, and, as revolutionists get just as hungry as anyone else, the resistance of the disaffected citizens was quickly broken. The story is true, as I happen to know, for the president himself told it to me.

MUST BE ABOVE SUSPICION.

Kidney and bladder ailments are so serious in their consequences, and if unchecked so often fatal in results, that any remedy offered for their cure must be above suspicion. Foley Kidney Pills meet exactly this requirement. They have a definite purpose, to cure all disorders of the kidneys and bladder and all ailments resulting therefrom. They are a pure and unadulterated medicine, tonic in action and quick in results. They cure backache, urinary irregularities, lumbago, dizziness, nervousness and clear the system of uric acid. Chas. L. Truitt, Rasback avenue, Centralia, Ill., says: "My back ached, my kidneys and bladder showed a weakened condition. I had to get up many times of a night and suffered burning sensations in my bladder. Had headaches and dots floating before my eyes. Several times I tried different medicines, but nothing seemed to do me good until I took Foley Kidney Pills. I used these according to directions and they helped me in a short time. The backache is all gone, my kidneys and bladder are strong and the bladder annoyance has stopped and I am no longer bothered with headaches and dizziness. I can again attend to my work without suffering. Foley Kidney Pills have certainly proved their worth with me, and I can honestly recommend them." For sale by Dreier Bros.

FALL FESTIVAL A SUCCESS.

Celebration at Library Hall Nets St. Andrew's Parish $5,000.

With the awarding of forty-one grand prizes the seven night's fall festival given at Library hall under the auspices of St. Andrew's Catholic church, closed on Monday evening. As a result of the festival the new parish has realized financially approximately $5,000, which will be devoted to the fund for erecting a new church, pastoral residence and academy at New Haven avenue and Lumbard street. This sum, together with the $10,000 subscribed by members of the parish is an excellent beginning for the work. As only about half of the congregation has thus far subscribed, further assistance for the promotion of the work is forthcoming. Rev. George Horstman, the pastor, his efficient committees and parishioners in general were untiring in their efforts to make the fall festival a success, and are to be congratulated upon its results. All concerned are appreciative of the interest manifested by others and the co-operation that was extended.

All excavations for the buildings have been made on the church property and men are now busily engaged in the concrete work. In all probability the academy will be rushed to completion, so that the upper portion of it which is to be an auditorium, may be used as a church until the handsome new house of worship is erected.

The general and finance committees of the Chapman evangelistic campaign, to be held in this city for three weeks, commencing Thanksgiving day, had a meeting last evening at the Baptist church with S. These certificates will be circulated at church services next Sunday and at other times and persons solicited to take one or more of them. Aside from the amount that will be paid the evangelists, the expense of holding the meetings will be about $3,500. At the meeting last evening C. H. Worden was elected general treasurer.

ALL MY PIMPLES GONE.

"I was ashamed of my face," writes Minnie Pickard, of Altamahaw, N. C. "It was all full of pimples and scars, but after using D. D. D. Prescription I can say that now there is no sign of that Eczema, and that was three years ago."

D. D. D. has become so famous as a cure and instant relief in Eczema and all other serious skin diseases that its value is sometimes overlooked in clearing up rash, pimples, blackheads and all other minor forms of skin impurities.

The fact is that while D. D. D. is so penetrating that it strikes to the very root of Eczema or any other serious trouble, the soothing Oil of Wintergreen, Thymol and other ingredients are so carefully compounded, there is no wash for the skin made that can compare with this great household remedy for every kind of skin trouble.

D. D. D. is pleasant to use, perfectly harmless to the most delicate skin, and absolutely reliable. It should always be kept on hand. By a recent arrangement with the D. D. D. Laboratories of Chicago, you can now get a trial size for 25 cents. This will give you positive proof of the wonderful effectiveness of this great remedy.

THE TRICKS OF MEDIUMS.

Table levitations are often produced by means of a hook strapped to the wrist and inserted beneat the edge of the table, or a hook attached to a strap passing over the shoulders of the medium and his assistant. Raps are made by slipping the fingers along the polished wood of the table top or by pressing the boot heel against the table leg and gently sliding it up and down. Objects are moved and musical instruments played upon, etc., by means of black threads and hairs which are practically invisible in the dusk of the seance room. Sometimes dummy hands are employed, to allow the medium to release his own unobserved and with them produce the marvels witnessed. Pellets are read beneath the table, after other exactly resembling the sitters' have been substituted and laid on the table during the operation. Sealed letters are simply steamed and pried open, with more or less trouble, and their contents read. The majority of these tests are absurdedly simple when once their secret is known. Like many other things in life, "It's easy when you know how." But the majority don't know how.—Hereward Carrington in Leslie's.

PROBING LUMBER RATES.

Louisville, Ky., Oct. 25.—Special Examiner Ryndor, of the interstate commerce commission, today opened an examination into the reasonableness of rates on lumber on shipments from northern and eastern points to Louisville. Mrs. George H. Loesch and Mrs. Frederick D. Hoham received about two hundred ladies this afternoon in Minuet hall and entertained them afterwards at bridge, followed by a supper. The hall was decorated with many palms, ferns and bowls and jardiniers of white roses, cosmos and carnations. The card tables were placed in circular fashion about the center of the room, where palms and comfortable seats were placed for the comfort of those who did not care to play cards. The effect of the green and white decoration was beautiful and formed a fine setting for the rich coloring of autumn hats and gowns. Music was rendered during the afternoon by Mrs. Charles Horton, harpist, and Miss May Swank, violinist. Supper was served by Trier in the balcony of the hall, where long stationary tables had been placed in such a way that every guest could view the hall. The two hostesses were assisted during the afternoon by Mrs. Theodore Haberkorn, Mrs. Will Hoham, Mrs. Belle Raeder and Mrs. M. G. Flagle. 5 SIZES 2 TO 10 YEARS

In the small girls' wardrobe bloomers are now even more essential than petticoats, for mothers appreciate the advantages these garments possess over ruffled and tucked underskirts, that must be laundered so often in order to keep them fresh and clean, and, incidentally, children prefer bloomers because they do not interfere with vigorous exercises, as skirts often do.

An especially attractive garment of this character is pictured here, and can be satisfactorily developed in any of the materials generally used for the clothes of little folks.

The pattern for these bloomers is cut in five sizes that will fit children between the ages of two and ten years.

To copy it for a child eight years of age four and one-half yards of goods twenty-seven inches wide, or three and three-quarters yards thirty-six inches in width, will be required.

The pattern is arranged so the over and under garments may be worn as a frock, or the over garment may be used as an apron, and the guimpe and bloomers combined with other dresses that require guimpes.

When only the bloomer portion is to be used the bloomers should be finished at the waist with a band in which buttonholes can be worked, so the garment can be buttoned to the little underwaists.

The suit shown in this illustration would be pretty if made from plaid or striped gingham and plain chambray; the latter should be of a shade that matches the predominating color of the plaid. It would add much to the good appearance of the frock if the armholes, square neck and top of the hem were finished with a one inch wide bias facing of the chambray. The belt may be of the material or of patent leather.

For cold weather wear the dress and guimpe portion could be of a heavy cotton weave, such as rep or galatea, and the bloomers of flannel.

When made for cold days the bloomers should be arranged to button to the guimpe at the waist line.

Sour Milk Griddle Cakes.

Beat two eggs very light without separating and add to them two cupfuls of thick sour milk, to which has been added one teaspoonful of soda dissolved in a spoonful of boiling water. Stir in quickly one-half of a teaspoonful of salt, one tablespoonful of molasses and one tablespoonful of melted butter. Beat hard for a moment and bake at once. Unless the milk is very sour and the chemical action of the soda on it marked by a thorough foaming, it is well to add one-half of a teaspoonful of baking powder in order to overcome any tendency to heaviness.

Doughnuts with Fruit.

Prepare a sponge with one pint of milk, one-half of a yeastcake dissolved in a little warm water, one scant teaspoonful of salt and sufficient flour to make a drop batter. Beat hard for five minutes, cover and set aside until light. Add three eggs well beaten and one-half of a cupful of butter creamed with one cupful of sugar. Mix thoroughly, set aside until risen a second time, then sift in sufficient flour to make a soft dough. Knead for five minutes, cover and set aside again until doubled in bulk, then roll out on a well-floured board. Cut into thin rounds. Have ready about two cupfuls of seeded raisins or any preferred fruit; put a teaspoonful on each round, wet the edge, cover with a second round and press the two together. Let stand for twenty minutes then drop, a few at a time, into smoking hot fat and cook until golden brown. Drain on unglazed paper and roll in powdered sugar.

AT THE MAJESTIC

The Latmore and Leigh Stock company will present at the Majestic this evening "The Quaker Tragedy," a comedy drama on the order of "The Old Homestead."

The play is one which tells a heart story of great interest. It is neither a Yankee rural drama with its grossly exaggerated types of character, nor a play dealing with the hackneyed southern war theme, but is instead a most dramatic story told in straightforward fashion, well supplied with good bright comedy. Manager Latmore has engaged a very strong company and a number of very good vaudeville acts.

The Latmore and Leigh box mystery is one of the best acts of its kind ever seen in this city.

The bill for tomorrow matinee and night will be "The Maid and the Man."

QUIET SHOULD BE RULE IN A SICK ROOM

Rustling Skirts, Squeaky Shoes and Whispering Irritate Patient and May Retard Convalescence.

First, last and all the time, a rule to be observed in a sick room is quiet, for nothing is more irritating to a patient than noises, and a person who, is ill not infrequently notices sounds that ordinarily would not be heard. For example, cotton dresses, which rattle as cotton frequently does when stiffly starched, or stiff silk gowns should not be worn in a sick room, and squeaky shoes are inexcusable.

If a woman cannot wear rubber soles, at least an old pair of shoes which will make less noise than new ones should be worn. It is needless to add whispering should never be done. Whatever is said should be spoken in low tones, as they are not likely to attract the attention of an ill person.

To argue with an invalid is the height of folly and may bring on a rise of temperature. If the individual is so ill that a physician's orders are to be carried out regardless of what the patient may wish, she should be made to understand such condition, and not object. It is not necessary to carry out doctors' orders in a manner that will arouse antagonism, but the ill person must be made to understand that the physician's word is law.

Dishes containing broths or medicines as are brought into the room must be arranged so they will not rattle.

The tinkle of ice is one of the few sounds not distressing in a sick room because it is associated in the mind of a fever patient with liquid which will refresh. But a spoon hitting against a plate, a saucer rattling in another dish, are harrowing to the nerves of one who is ill.

Failure to Return Calls Will Mean Unpopularity

Social Custom Demands That Visits Must Not Be Neglected —To Avoid Return Calls is to Make Enemies.

Trifling though calls may seem, they are in reality most important, for persons who are not visited assume that their acquaintance is not desired, and the woman who gives such an impression is usually dropped from the lists of those she desires for friends.

In any way that suits the individual, score should have been kept of last winter's visits, and those which a woman did not return before leaving town for the summer must be paid at once, for, while there may have been good cause for omitting them before leaving the city, there can be none satisfactory to the other person if the delay is allowed to continue.

A married woman, calling, leaves one of her own cards for each woman member of the household and one each of her husband's, adding to that number, one more of the husband's, which is for the host. A woman does not call upon a man, so she does not leave one of her own for her hostess' husband, but the husband's must be sent, even though the two men may not be acquainted. When a married woman makes formal calls and does not leave her husband's cards with her own it may mean that she no longer lives with him. A woman paying social visits in this country during weeks that her husband may be in Europe still leaves his cards.

The man's cards need not be left for any son of the household, unless an acquaintance actually exists between the two.

Fashion still decrees that a married woman may use cards containing both her own and her husband's name; in other words, "Mr. and Mrs." While these cost a trifle more to order, the fashion is really economical, for it means that one card does duty for two. When these are used, a single one of the man's will be needed for the host.

Having a day does not denote formality, necessarily, but merely that visitors will be sure to find one at home at such times. Women whose domestic staff is limited find it easier to have a day, when they can arrange their household accordingly and be ready to receive easily. When this day is put on cards it should occupy the lower left corner, with the address fully written out in the right.

WOMEN AND HAPPINESS.

Apart from the crude economic question, the things that most women mean when they speak of "happiness," that is, love and children and the little republic of the home, depend upon the favor of men, and the qualities that win this favor are not in general those that are most useful for other purposes. A girl should not be too intelligent or too good or too highly differentiated in any direction. Like a ready-made garment, she should be designed to fit the average man, says the Atlantic. She should have "just about as much religion as my William likes." The age-long operation of this rule, by which the least strongly individualized women are the most likely to have a chance to transmit their qualities, has given it the air of a natural law. Though the lady has generally yielded it unquestioning obedience, she often dreams of a land like that of the Amazons, where she might be judged on her merits instead of on her charms. Seeing that in the world a woman's social position, her daily food, her chance of children, depend on her exerting sufficient charm to induce some may to assume the responsibility and expense of maintaining her for life, and that the qualities on which this charm depends are sometimes altogether unattainable by a given woman, it is not surprising that exceptional women are willing to eliminate from their lives the whole question of marriage and motherhood for the sake of free development, irrespective of its bearing on the other sex.

ORIGIN OF THE WORD ETIQUETTE

The French word "etiquette" really means a "label" or "ticket." How, then, comes it to denote "conventional forms of ceremony?"

It is said that a certain Scottish gardener in charge of Louis XIV.'s garden at Versailles was very much put out because the courtiers walked over his beds. To keep off these trespassers he placed labels or tickets—"etiquettes"—at various spots, with instructions as to the proper paths. At first the haughty courtiers did not deign to notice these placards, but a hint from high quarters that their walks in future must be within the "etiquettes" compelled their obedience.

Thus, according to the story, originated our present use of the word "etiquette."

TO KEEP NEEDLES.

A soda mint bottle, with a little screw top, makes an excellent holder for needles, to keep in the workbag. It is especially good for damp climates, as the needles will not rust. It can be made a thing of beauty by covering it with a bit of the material of which the bag is made (preferably silk, as this will work up better); and a workbag given for a present is doubly acceptable if some such little thing as this is added to give a distinctive touch.

A Reader Cures His Constipation—Try it Free

Simple way for any family to retain the good health of all its members

The editors of "Health Hints" and "Questions and Answers" have one question that is put to them more often than any other, and which, strangely enough, they find the most difficult to answer. That is "How can I cure my constipation?"

Dr. Caldwell, an eminent specialist in diseases of the stomach, liver and bowels has looked the whole field over, has practised the specialty for forty years and is convinced that the ingredients contained in what is called Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin has the best claim to attention from constipated people.

Its success in the cure of stubborn constipation has done much to displace the use of salts, waters, strong cathartics and such things. Syrup Pepsin, by training the stomach and bowel muscles to again do their work naturally, and with its tonic ingredients strengthening the nerves, brings about a lasting cure. Among its strongest supporters are Mr. John Graveline of 38 Milwaukee Ave., Detroit, Mich., Mr. J. A. Vernon of Oklahoma City and thousands of others. It can be obtained of any druggist at fifty cents and one dollar a bottle, or if you want to try it first a free sample bottle can be obtained by writing the doctor.

Dr. Caldwell does not feel that the purchase of his remedy ends his obligation. He has specialized in stomach, liver and bowel diseases for over forty years and will be pleased to give the reader any advice on the subject free of charge. All are welcome to write him. Whether for the medical advice or the free sample address him Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 501 Caldwell building, Monticello, Ill.

For real substantial pancakes use NUTRI-MEAL. They digest easily and relieve instead of cause constipation.

For porridge or breakfast food use NUTRI-MEAL as it is more nourishing than oatmeal or corn meal.

lowed them in his vote against the bill, and now asks the defeat of the only representatives from Indiana with whom he agreed, and the election of the only representatives from Indiana who voted in constant opposition to him. With all due respect to the senior senator, this draft of the belated convert on the voters of Indiana is too heavy for human nature to honor.

"Especially pleasing would it be to me to be present tonight to pay my tribute of respect to Cyrus Cline. I say tribute of respect, as he needs no indorsement to entitle him to the confidence of the voters of the Twelfth district. His broad and thorough grasp of public questions as they come before the house, his ready mastery of the red tape of the executive departments, in his attention to the business of his constituents before them, and his unflagging energy and non-partisan zeal in behalf of all the people of his district were too manifest to escape attention. His is a record of highly intelligent, faithful and efficient public service.

Judge Erwin Presides.

Judge R. K. Erwin, introduced as the presiding officer of the evening, disclaimed any intention of making the customary chairman's address, but he could not refrain from one or two apt references to the tariff situation and the dissension within the ranks of the republican party. He expressed the belief that the 8th of November would bring a bigger snowstorm than that which attended the inauguration of President Taft and declared that the American people were preparing to resent at the coming election the iniquities of the Payne-Aldrich tariff bill. When he asserted that it was plain larceny to take from the pockets of the farmer and the wage-earner the tribute levied by a high tariff, there was a response of "Amen" from the center of the audience. He declared the events of the past two years had demonstrated that the republican party cannot be trusted to honestly revise the tariff in the interest of the masses of the people.

When Judge Erwin presented Congressman Cline as a man who had stood fairly and squarely for the interests of the people as against the tariff plunderers, there was renewed applause, and Mr. Cline after a kindly reference to Congressman Sheppard whom he declared he wanted the democrats of Allen county to know better spoke for fifteen minutes on the subject of tariff taxation.

Mr. Cline's Address.

In part Mr. Cline said

"For fourteen years the republican party has been in absolute control of every department of the government, so it must be held responsible for conditions that are now condemned by all parties irrespective of political affiliation. Prior to the last presidential election the country became restless under the excessive tariff rates on imports. Both the great parties went to the country with declarations upon the tariff. The republican party said that if it was intrusted with power that immediately after the inauguration of the next administration, congress would be convened in a special session to revise the tariff. The democratic party demanded an immediate revision downward of the rates as expressed in the Dingley law. The country believing that the republican party was in earnest in its declarations to revise the tariff and revise it downward, gave the party a new lease of power only to betray the people that had trusted it, congress was convened. What was the result? The Payne-Aldrich-Smoot bill that has been denounced by the masses of the people everywhere, for the reason that its enactment was a base betrayal of the confidence of the American people The country knows that it was tricked into the support of the republican ticket and its interests sacrificed to the greed of great corporations in house of its friends.

"The theory of the republican party originally was that, if competition from abroad could be eliminated, those engaged in a given line of industrial pursuits would compete among themselves for American trade and thereby give the consumer the benefit of competition. That was a mere theory. When foreign competition was destroyed, these men engaged in a given industry incorporated all the concerns into one gigantic institution, each concern retaining still its individual identity as well.

Limit Production; Fix Price.

"They proceeded then to limit production and fix the price—not only the wholesale price but the retail price of their product. This proceeded until every line of industry was involved. In 1898 there were 2,160 separate and distinct establishments doing a manufacturing business along individual lines with a capital of $1,400,000. These separate institutions amalgamated their capital into 185 trusts with a capital of $3,600,000 without adding another dollar to the business. On this immense sum these captains of industry proceeded to collect sufficient profits out of your industry and economy, to pay large dividends. Meeting with success in this system of plunder, the leaders of these enterprises sought to fasten upon the country as a fixed policy this system of taxation.

"These leaders became so powerful as to dominate and control the republican national convention at Chicago and wrote into the platform of that party a guarantee of reasonable profit for these institutions that had become odious to the American people. They did it with the stealth and cunning of masters, they declared themselves to be in favor of a revision of the tariff. Hidden in this ambiguity of the word, revision was the purpose to deliver the goods, as they delivered in the Payne-Aldrich bill—a bill expressing higher rates than were carried in the law it pretended to revise. What is the result? Out of this violation of plighted faith, out of this explicit repudiation of the platform, out of these schemes to rob the people and increase the holdings of gigantic syndicates has come what is known as insurgency.

What Is Insurgency?

"And what is insurgency? A protest against the excessive rates written in the Payne-Aldrich law, that is all; a revolt by a few leaders who heard the storm of the people's wrath and who want to commercialize it and retain official place and usually by these leaders who have willingly aided and abetted the republican system of high taxation for years without protest or complaint. Not one of these 'reformers' ever refers to his past record, if he has a record. He wants to do like Beveridge—let bygones be bygones and look to the future. In this connection I want to call your attention to an important fact, the republican party discharged this trust as it saw it. It did its duty with reference to the tariff as it construed its promise to the people. If you are not satisfied with its action you have no alternative so far as its party declaration is concerned, but to turn to some other party that offers you relief from these conditions. Let me ask the voters here and now what remedy does the republican party offer you? It revised the tariff, Mr. Taft says, as it promised to do. What more can you ask of it, what more, if anything does it propose to do? Nothing. I call your attention to another fact—there is not a republican candidate in this state unless he stands on an unequivocal endorsement of the Payne-Aldrich bill, that offers you a concise, definite promise of what he will do on the tariff question."

Makes an Instant Hit.

Congressman Sheppard had never before been heard in Fort Wayne, but he made an instant hit with the audience at Princess rink. "I am glad to come to you from a state that emblems its liberty by a star and its democracy by a majority of 260,000," said Mr. Sheppard in opening. "Your chairman has referred to me as a congressman. I think I should prefer to be known simply as private citizen. In these latter days it is not so much of an honor to be a congressman. In fact, it has come to be believed that when they call the roll in congress nowadays, instead of the members answering 'here,' or 'present,' the response has come to be "guilty," or 'not guilty.'"

The speaker paid high tribute to the efficient services of both Senator Shively and Congressman Cline, and declared that the people of the Twelfth district could do no better than to keep Mr. Cline in Washington as their representative.

The speaker declared that warfare within the republican party had destroyed party discipline which had been its proudest boast and utterly unfitted it for further direction of the government. Factions are vowing vengeance upon each other, and the people are stirred to anger that portends destruction to the dominant political party. "Never, before," said Mr. Sheppard, "has living been so difficult—when it is so great a task to provide for the family fireside the decent essentials of life. The American people, facing prices that ever ascend, see prodigious wealth centering year by year in fewer hands. They see seven men worth an aggregate fortune of one thousand millions of dollars—a group of twenty men in control of two-thirds of all the money in circulation in the United States, in control of all the avenues of production, manufacture, transportation and exchange. But little needs to be added to the span of human life to enable this group of millionaires to control the republic itself.

When They Reach Heaven.

"Perhaps God in His infinite wisdom," continued Mr. Sheppard, "had this situation in mind when He ordained that man should be born to die. I think when they approach the gates of heaven there will be consternation among the angels through fear that they will presently get a monopoly upon transportation on the river of life and a monopoly on the supply of wings."

The Wilson law, enacted by the democrats, he said, was but the first step in a reformation that would have been properly completed by the democrats had it not been for a popular misapprehension that swept them from power and constituted one of the tragedies of American politics. Partnership of government with private interests, he declared, has developed a saturnalia of wrong. The Payne tariff law, Mr. Sheppard asserted, is a deliberate violation of the republican covenant with the people to give relief to the American consumer. And it is so complete and so conscienceless a violation that protest has lifted its banner and divided even the republican party into hopelessly antagonistic factions.

Some Tariff Illustrations.

Then followed a most entertaining citation of various schedules of the Payne tariff bill, bringing out the point that almost without exception the average tariff on necessities of life has been advanced and that upon luxuries lowered. The result, said the speaker, is a scale of prices that is an absolute burden to the masses. Cotton, woolens, sugar, flour, chemicals and other staples were touched upon.

"If this thing keeps up," said Mr. Sheppard, "prices will soon be so high that we will see links of bologna worn for necklaces, strips of bologna worn for bracelets, and a porterhouse steak will be more vigilantly guarded than the crown jewels of an empire."

For years the republican contention, Mr. Sheppard said, was that the policy of protection maintained high prices; this year the republicans are straining every nerve in the effort to prove that there is no relation whatever between the tariff and high prices. They lowered the duty on strychnine, but advanced it on soap, so as to make it easier for a man to kill himself than to keep his body clean. The speaker continued with illustrations from the building material, the sugar and the paper schedules.

Where They Were Generous.

"But there are some things for which we should be thankful to the republican party and the Payne-Aldrich tariff bill," said Mr. Sheppard. "It is true that there has been a tax placed upon all dolls and toys for the children of 35 per cent. It is true a tax has been put on the clothes line and the wash tub, the utensils of the kitchen and the implements of the field, but let us be dearly thankful for that outburst of generous republican statesmanship which has placed on the free list dried blood, fish skins, hoofs, junk, leeches, seaweed, rags, skeletons, nux vomica, teeth and turtles.

"It ought to be now evident," continued Mr. Sheppard, "that the republican party will never revise the tariff in the interests of the people.

Last Hope of Insurgents.

The insurgents lost their last hope when Theodore Roosevelt permitted the New York convention which he dominated to endorse the Payne-Aldrich bill. The republican party today is a mass of incoherent wreckage, shattered by the shock of faction. The fight is so desperate that Mr. Roosevelt, the human seidlitz powder, ceases to hunt wild beasts in Africa to hunt stand-patters in the United States. And he upholds the Payne tariff law in New York and denounces it in Georgia. He supports Beveridge in Indiana, and Lodge in Massachusetts, tearing about the country a strutting composite of contradictions.

"The insurgents offer a belated insurrection. Before insurgency had dawned in the dimmest dream democracy had been warring on extortion and legislative absolutism, and the majority of those who are now so loudly 'insurgent' helped strap the American people to the rack of greed.

Democracy Country's Hope.

Democracy is the country's hope today as it has been in the past. Coming from the south I tell you I am glad to welcome the time when we are brothers of a common country and citizens of a single flag, and if success crowns the democratic banner you of the north will find the people of the south anxious to co-operate with your congressman here in seeing that the federal soldier receives proper treatment. (Applause). This is a magnificent country, builded so firmly by democracy in its first fifty years of life that it has been able to endure not only four years of civil strife, but fifty years of republican rule as well.

"The vindication of the democratic party is at hand. It now appeals to the American people whose happiness it established and whose prestige it preserved, to unite beneath its banners in November and gathering at the ballot box, that solemn altar of the people's rights, to banish privilege, exalt equality, to rebuke oppression, to strengthen brotherhood, to erect again the principle that the people's liberties shall be reflected in the people's laws."

Earl Boyer, who has been doing duty for the street car company, has returned to work as inspector at the transfer corner. Inspector Nussbaum, who has held the position for some time, has again taken charge of a car. Elmer Payne, who has been doing duty as a traveling inspector with Mr Boyer, has taken charge of a run on the city lines.

WAYS TO MAKE LAND PAY

All Offer Fine Possibilities, But Intensive Farming Brings Big Returns.

(Allan L. Benson in November Delineator.)

A living can be made from land in these ways:

1. By having much land. If one has much land, and is content with a poor living, he may do the minimum of work. The surplus of land will make up for the deficiency of labor. He can let beef cattle fatten on the grass while he loafs. He can till ever so poorly and still be alive at the end of the year.

2. By having less land and working more. Nothing except land and labor can make crops, and if the land be diminished in area, labor must be increased both in volume and intelligent purpose. The man who seeks a living from a forty-acre farm cannot sit down until the beef cattle fatten themselves into steaks. He must sow and cultivate. He must also have a glimmering of the fact that it is not well to keep the same crop in the same field, lear after year.

3. By having a little land—five or ten acres—and understadnig it; by caring for a great machine that he perfectly understood and wanted to drive to its capacity; by making up for a deficiency of lanad with an abundance of intelligent labor.

Tme five or ten-acre farm is precisely as feasible a method of making a living as the eighty-acre farm. The miniature simply must be worked in a different way. It must be devoted to crops, into the raising of which can be packed the labor and knowledge that alone can compensate for lack of land. Not much labor can be put into the growing of a small patch of wheat or a few beef cattle; therefore, the small farm must be devoted to raising little things that bring big prices; little things that will not even grow less unless coddled and teased. Vegetables berries and fruit require little land, but much intelligent labor. They bring good prices. Vegetables, berries and fruit are, therefore, the crops which any man can make a small farm as profitable as he could make the largest farm that he could attempt to till with his own labor.

IS IN TRAINING HERE.

Kid Erb is in training here after a trip through the south for a match at Muncie on November 1, when he will meet Nat Forbes, of Indianapolis. This will be followed by a bout at Lima, O., November 10 with Battling Schultz.

Two weeks ago he won a decision over Sammy Trout at Newport, Ky., and he says he met some of the best featherweights in his class during his absence from Fort Wayne.

Tidbits of Sporting News

On account of the death of Ralph Wilson, injured in a foot ball game at St. Louis on Saturday, Wabash college has cancelled the remaining games of the season.

Rolla Zeider, captain of the White Sox, was in the city yesterday with Sheriff Thomas, of Auburn. They had been to Longcliffe hospital with an insane patient.

Mordecai Brown had arranged to take a team of the Cubs to Terre Haute after the world's series, but evidently abandoned the project, as the defeated National league champions have disbanded for the season.

Barney Oldfield and his managers, Messrs. Pickens and Sloan, have been indefinitely suspended by the American Automobile association because Barney drove his Benz car around the Readville, Mass., track several times when warned not to do so.

Hugh Duffy will again manage the White Sox next season, as his contract has another year to run. Catcher Block and Pitchers Lange and Olmstead are the only players unsigned for next year.

Tommy Tennant, who has played first base for the San Francisco Seals for the last two years, since being released to that team from the White Sox, was married in San Francisco yesterday to Miss Agnes Sparrow, daughter of a merchant of that city.

Catcher McLean, of the Reds, has received—and doubtless will accept—an offer from a theatrical booking agency to go out on the vaudeville stage this winter, beginning in November. He is having an act written for himself and his brother, who is a cartoonist on a Boston paper and a clever actor.

The winter season of phony bets and four-flushing by managers and performers has opened for the wrestlers. Zybszko opens it with a challenge to Champion Frank Gotch to meet him in a match for $10,000 a side. The Buffalo Athletic club is helping the bunk along with a report to the effect that it will offer a purse of $20,000 for the match.

President Johnson, of the American league; President Comiskey, of the White Sox; Jimmy McAleer, manager of the Washington club, and others will start tonight for the Wisconsin woods on a hunting expedition. They will be gone for at least a week. They would have started on this trip a week ago, but for the world's series. All of them will be glad to get out of the base ball world for a while.

Hal Chase is already going ahead with his plans for the 1911 season just as if he expected to be manager throughout the year. He says his team will train at Hot Springs, Ark., and that instead of the usual base ball practice the first two weeks will be devoted to hunting, fishing and hill climbing. It is rather a new departure from the usual method of training ball players in the spring, but looks as if it would work out very well.

RETURNED THEIR CHECKS.

Ball Players Will Not Defy the National Commission.

Chicago, Oct. 25.—Mordecai Brown and Artie Hoffman are two members of the Cubs who have returned their checks to the men backing D. A. Fletcher in the All-Star American and National league teams with which he proposed to tour the country at the close of the season. It was also said he proposed another big league and was after the men to join him.

Ty Cobb, George Mullin and Larry Lajoie had returned theirs and, although the players could have retained the money as it was given as a guarantee, they did not want to sting anybody and gave it up.

A car load each day of Carpets and Furniture is sold by the Foster Furniture Company. Why not purchase your goods where the assortment is the largest, the styles the prettiest and the prices the lowest?

GOTCH REFUSES TO MEET POLE.

Fort Dodge, Ia., Oct. 25.—Frank Gotch has refused to accept Zbyszko's challenge, backed by a $1,000 wager. The Buffalo club offered a $20,000 purse. Gotch says he is through with the mat game.

A tea and cream social will be held at Hober's chapel Thursday evening. Everyone is invited to attend.

WRITING FOR CHRISTMAS.

Louis Heilbroner, who has been reporting the series for his paper, the celebrated Fort Wayne Gazabe, stayed over tonight to rest from arduous labors and will return to his office in Fort Wayne tomorrow. Louis has done the thing in style, going to and from the grounds every day in a touring car at the expense of his paper, for which he will write an exhaustive account of the series to appear in the Christmas number.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

COBB GIVES HERMAN SCHAFFER AUTO AS PRESENT

Says the Old Head Taught Him the Art of Sliding Into Bases.

Chicago, Ill., Oct. 25.—Ty Cobb has presented Herman Schaefer with his old automobile. The car which he has been using will be of no further use to him now that he has received the one offered to the best major league batsman.

In giving Schaefer the machine Cobb is repaying "Germany" for the many kindly turns he did for Cobb.

"If it were not for Schaefer's interest in me I would not have made myself the ball player I am," said Cobb, after announcing that Schaefer was now the possessor of an automobile.

"When I joined the Detroit club I knew but little, but Schaefer taught me. The very first day he got after me because I did not pick up my feet and run as he thought I should. Then he told me to turn toward second when going to first so that if anything happened to the ball I could take another base."

"That was all easy enough," put in Schaefer, "but I had an awful time teaching you how to slide."

"Yes, you did. I thought it too dangerous in those days and would not try. But one day in an exhibition game at Indianapolis I saw Schaefer slide away from the baseman holding the ball, and I made up my mind that I would learn the trick. I asked Schaefer to teach me, and for the next two weeks we would go to the park every morning and I would run and he would go through the motion of catching and touching me with the ball. He would tell me just when and how to slide, and if I made a mistake he would change place and he would do the sliding.

"In that way I learned everything I know about base running, and I owe it all to Schaefer, and I give him my machine in appreciation of the many kindnesses he has shown me."

GEORGE PASKERT IN DEAL.

Rumors of Big Deal Between Cincinnati and Philadelphia.

Cincinnati, Oct. 25.—Rumors of an impending deal whereby several players of the Philadelphia and Cincinnati clubs will be exchanged are rife in local baseball circles. The Phillies mentioned in the exchange are Third Baseman Grant, Pitcher McQuilan and Shortstop Doolan. The Reds spoken of are Lobert, Paskert and Downey. Manager Griffith will not discuss the matter at this time. That negotiations have been completed for the trade is the information coming from reliable sources. The full information regarding the deal will be given out at Philadelphia within a few days.

Manager Dolin, when he was in Chicago at the world's series, was noncommittal when the matter was mentioned to him.

WEDDING BELLS ARE RINGING FOR A QUINTET

Five Members of the Athletics Are Ready to Be Married.

Philadelphia, Oct. 25.—"Five members of the Athletics are to become benedicts during the coming winter. The only one of them who ever has had any experience in matrimony is Connie Mack, who has two grown sons. He is to marry Miss Katherine Hollehan of Philadelphia.

Eddie Collins and Jack Coombs, two of the stars of the recent series, are to use their winnings with which to furnish snug cozy corners, and they acknowledge very freely that winning the series "helped some." Eddie is to marry Miss Mabel Doan, daughter of a Philadelphia manufacturer, and Jack will journey all the way to Texas to claim Miss Florence Reisa of Palestine.

Eddie Plank goes to Gettysburg shortly to wed an old schoolmate. Late this afternoon Shortstop Jack Barry announced he had decided to "hook up." He did it after a pretty young woman had bolated upon kissing him before a howling mob of fans who met the team at Broad street station. Amid the fears and congratulations of the crowd Jack announced that the young woman had a perfect right to kiss him, as they were to be married shortly. Then he introduced her to his teammates and the newspaper men as Miss Margaret McDonough of Boston. During the world's series Miss McDonough had been the guest of Mrs. Ira Thomas. Miss McDonough acknowledged that she had promised to marry Jack immediately if the club succeeded in "bringing home the bacon." And now for the wedding march.

ATTELL GETS DECISION.

Johnny Kilbant Never Had a Chance to Win.

Kansas City, Mo., Oct. 25.—Abe Attell won a decision over Johnny Kilbane of Cleveland, O., after ten rounds of fighting here last night. The champion's title never was in danger from start to finish. Kilbane, except in the eighth round, was on the retreat. Attell continued to follow his opponent about the ring, hoping to get near enough to land, but the champion usually had to get the Clevelander in a corner before he could put in telling punches. Attell directed the majority of his blows for the wind, but he drove home enough choppy lefts and rights to Kilbane's head to bruise the fighter. No blood was drawn by either man. In the eighth round Kilbane braced himself against the champion's rushes and managed to drive several rights to Attell's law.

WANTS HIS OLD COMRADES TO READ THIS.

S. C. Murphy, Fort Wayne, Ind., a veteran of the civil war, desires his old comrades to know the contents of this letter: "For three or four years I have suffered from kidney trouble. My back ached severely and I had to get up frequently at night and was very dizzy upon arising in the morning. The black spots before my eyes made me imagine they were flies. I was recommended to try Foley Kidney Pills and the results were immediate. The pain left my back, I had no more dizziness, my kidney action was normal and I attribute my cure to the sole use of Foley Kidney Pills." Dreier Bros.

Threw Sullivan Out in a Jiffy When He Got Rowdy

There is, perhaps, only one man on earth who had the nerve to throw John L. Sullivan out of a room at a time when Sullivan was in his prime and held the world's heavyweight title and that man is Charles H. Smith, the old-time proprietor of the American house in Denver.

The sale of the American House a few days ago has revived the story, and it is now going the rounds. Although the episode happened over a quarter of a century ago, it is still fresh in the minds of the old timers, for at that time it was given all kinds of space in the newspapers throughout the country.

It was either Christmas or New Years day in 1881 that Sullivan and his party came to Denver. The great John L. was quite a young man at that time. In fact he was in his prime having knocked out Paddy Ryan a couple of years before and thereby won the world's heavyweight title.

Flushed with the success of his victory, Sullivan was touring the country offering money to all who would stay more than four rounds with him.

When it came to physique, Sullivan had little on Smith. The latter was a robust sort of chap, handy with his fists, though he never fought in the prize ring. Husky as he was, he was greatly handicapped by Sullivan's immense weight.

The story goes that Sullivan and Jack Glade had just come from Leadville, where they had cleaned up a number of saloons and painted the town red. They decided to continue on their roundup, so they visited a number of saloons, in each of which Sullivan made his usual bet of his wilingness to put any man to sleep inside of four rounds.

Eventually they landed in the Arcade, the old-time gambling house on Larimer, near Fifteenth street. There they started in to clean up the house. The result was that a score of husky miners, who happened to be in the place at the time, threw the two disturbers out of the building.

Without his hat, Sullivan ran to the American House, two blocks distant. It happened to be rather early in the day, and Smith Thompson, one of the old-time hotel clerks, was behind the desk. Up to the desk Sullivan ran, and, bringing down his fist on the counter, shouted: "I want a gun."

It happened that Mr. Smith, the proprietor of the place, was standing at the side of the desk, reading a newspaper. He paid no attention to the blustering champion of the world until he continued his demands for a gun, so that he could return to the Arcade and accomplish with the shooting iron what he had failed to accomplish with his fists.

As Sullivan continued to get louder in his demands, Mr. Smith stepped from behind the counter. Without a word he grabbed the mighty John L. by the coat collar and back of his trousers, and in less time than it take to tell he hustled him to the front door and threw him out.

When the world's champion managed to recover from his surprise and pick himself off the sidewalk, he rushed back to the hotel office, and, with a roar that could be heard a block away, proceeded toward cleaning up the place with Mr. Smith.

As he was about to swing, he stopped for he found that Mr. Smith had rammed a .44 calibre Colt's revolver under his nose.

"Now, walk over there and beg the pardon of the clerk you insulted," insisted Mr. Smith.

After Sullivan did this, Mr. Smith further ordered: "Now beg mine."

Completely cowed, the champion of the world did as the proprietor of the American House ordered him to do.

In the meantime, the gamesters at the Arcade, hearing that Sullivan was going to clean up the city, buckled on their guns and started on a search for the mighty John L. After scouring the greater part of the city, their search led them to the union depot, where they found the champion of the world and his party waiting to take the next train out of the city.

The Shriners' floats are to be purchased by the local lodge of Elks, providing a suitable place for storing them can be secured. The floats will be used in the proposed grand May celebration, which will be held in Fort Wayne. The committee will hold a conference tonight and will make final announcement of their intentions.

President James McCrea, of the Pennsylvania, will spend five minutes in Fort Wayne tomorrow while his special train is having its engines exchanged. He will come down from Grand Rapids over the G. R. & I. road, arriving a few minutes after noon, and will leave immediately for Chicago and thence to some of the cities on the Panhandle system. Accompanying President McCrea will be the general officers of the Pennsylvania lines west of Pittsburg, the directors and some of the G. R. & I. officials. The general fall inspection of the properties will be made by President McCrea and his staff some time in November.

IN OLD PLACE NOV. 10.

Wabash Passenger Station Nearly Finished.

Supt. J. C. Sullivan, of the Wabash, who was in the city this morning on business connected with the improvements now in progress, said that the company expected to occupy its passenger station on Calhoun street and open business there Thursday, Nov. 10. "That is our intention at present," Supt. Sullivan said, "and I believe we can carry it out." W. S. Danes, division engineer, accompanied Supt. Sullivan and spent the day in directing the work at the old passenger station. Excavation was made this morning for the foundations for the baggage room addition, the baggage elevator and the stairway leading from Calhoun street to the depot platform. The addition will be an extension of the building to the west 12 feet and it will be 23 feet wide. The old depot building has received a coat of paint and is being thoroughly renovated, remodeled and decorated within and will present a greatly improved appearance when opened to business.

IN THE RANKS AGAIN.

J. E. Muhlfeld Takes Office With K. C. Southern.

John E. Muhlfeld, who has been out of railway work for some months, has again entered the ranks. Bulletins announce his appointment to the office of vice president and general manager of the Kansas City Southern, vice William Coughlin, resigned. Mr. Muhlfeld is well known in shop and railway circles in Fort Wayne, having been at one time employed in the Wabash shops in this city. For ten years he was prominently connected with eastern roads, notably the Baltimore and Ohio, getting out of the work several months ago. On the Kansas City Southern he will have charge of the transportation, maintenance of way, equipment, engineering and purchasing departments and will have headquarters in Kansas City.

WILL MEET IN TOLEDO.

Gathering of Master Blacksmiths There in 1911.

The committee composed of Master Railroad Blacksmiths met in Toledo Sunday and selected that city as the meeting place for the International Master Railroad Blacksmiths' association in 1911. The meeting will be held the third Tuesday in August. At these meetings several hundred delegates from the railway cities of the United States and Canada, including the Pennsylvania, the Wabash, the Nickel Plate and the Grand Rapids and Indiana are present.

NEW FINANCIER.

Arthur Gerding Succeeds Joseph Grosjean.

At the meeting of the Relief Union of the Fort Wayne Electric works last night Arthur Gerding was appointed financier to serve the unexpired term of Joseph Grosjean, who resigned because he quit the employ of the Fort Wayne Electric works to take employment with the General Electric company. Mr. Gerding is the timekeeper at the electric works and has been employed in that shop several years.

HAD TWO FINGERS CRUSHED.

Charles Petgen, a machinist in the Pennsylvania shops, had two of the fingers of his left hand painfully injured in a most peculiar manner. He dropped one of the heavy pins used for fastening castings on his machine while they were being dressed into a hole and the square head of the piece came down on the first and second fingers with considerable force, cutting and bruising them. He will be off duty several days.

INJURED HAVE RECOVERED.

H. Grothaus, the Pennsylvania pipefitter, who was injured a week ago by falling from his bicycle while riding to work, was able to report for duty at the shop this morning. J. A. Deck, tinner's helper in the same shop, also reported for work this morning. He had some toes injured two weeks ago.

D. E. Ryan, who recently moved here from Lansing, Mich., has secured employment at his trade, that of pipefitter, in the Pennsylvania shops.

AGAIN IN PENNSY SHOPS.

The west could not offer sufficient inducement to keep Machinist Nicholas Mertz out there and he returned to Fort Wayne. This morning he resumed the position in the Pennsylvania shops that he vacated two months ago to go west. He was welcomed by the shopmen.

TO REPORT FOR WORK.

Crane Director W. H. Moore, of the Pennsylvania erecting shop, is recovering from an injury and called at the shops this morning to say that he would resume work next Monday. Mr. Moore lost a toe two or three weeks ago, when a heavy casting fell upon one of his feet.

TO SEE HIS SICK BOY.

Machinist Dennis O'Conner, of the Pennsylvania shops, left this morning for Erie, Pa., upon receipt of news of the serious illness there of his son. The sick man formerly worked in the Pennsylvania shops in this city.

VISITING FORT WAYNE SHOPS.

W. C. Schonberg, foreman of the Pennsylvania blacksmith shop at Allegheny, is spending the day at the Fort Wayne shops of the company, exchanging notes with the foremen.

INDUSTRIAL NOTES.

David O. Melson, a painter at the Wabash shops, is sick and off duty.

Chief Clerk W. L. Wilt is east on business connected with the motive power department of the Pennsylvania.

The week-end excursion of the Wabash last Saturday to Detroit was not very well patronized, there being only 112 tickets sold here.

F. E. Swartout, a boilermaker's helper, and J. Red Merski, an apprentice, took employment at the Bass boiler shop this morning.

Mrs. Mamie Johnson, of 414 West Creighton avenue, went to Louisville, Ky., last night to see her mother, who is very ill at her home in that city.

Willard C. Knight, manager of the St. Louis office of the Fort Wayne Electric works, is in the city today on business for the company.

L. and N. passenger conductors yesterday received increases of $20 per month, and freight conductors an advance of $18.

Sol Longworth, of Van Wert, O., is visiting his brothers, Engineer Frank Longworth, of the Nickel Plate, and George W. Longsworth, of the Fort Wayne Electric works.

Thirty girls were added to the working force at the General Electric Lamp works yesterday. The company now has the largest pay rolls in its history.

Chief Dispatcher D. H. Caldwell, of the Nickel Plate, is looking after affairs on the Chicago end of the division today. He went to that city at noon.

The American Steel Dredge company has just booked a $23,000 order for machinery to be used in Florida. The company has other important orders on its books and the shop is busy.

Machinist H. Reiling, who went to Hartford City to repair a refractory safe lock and open the safe, accomplished the work yesterday and returned home.

Assistant Master Mechanic E. E. Greist, of the Pennsylvania, has returned from a business trip to Pittsburg and other places in the east in the interest of the company.

Division Storekeeper C. P. Cherry, of the Pennsylvania, who had charge of inventory work on the Chicago terminal division, returned home last night, having completed the work.

Herman Kelan, a draughtsman from Pittsburg, has taken employment in the draughting department of the motive power offices of the Pennsylvania, under H. A. Brinsley.

Miss Mary E. McNearney, matron at the Pennsylvania depot, has returned from Battle Creek, Mich., where she visited her brother several days.

John T. Leach, acting general foreman of the Pennsylvania erecting shop, is suffering from a severe cold and will not be able to get down to the shops for a day or two. His condition is not serious.

Harry H. Moore, chief clerk for Purchasing Agent F. I. Brown, of the Pennsylvania, went east last night on business for his department. A. Roth, tie inspector for the company, left for Columbus this morning.

The double final tennis game Saturday resulted in victory for J. V. Hunter and C. A. Carter, who played against A. L. Hadley and J. B. Mills, the score standing 8 to 6. At one time the score stood 5 to 2 in favor of Hadley and Mills and it looked very much as if they would win.

In common with other roads, the Lake Shore has been affected by the Central Passenger association's action concerning special rates in the passenger business. Agent Pinniger had made preliminary arrangements for an excursion to Ann Arbor on November 19, the date of the football game between the Michigan and the Minnesota university teams at that place. It has been called off.

DR. Hardman, Specialist

I Cure Pelvic, Nervous and Chronic Diseases

REDUCED FEES

FREE EXAMINATION and SPECIALLY REDUCED FEES in all cases I accept for treatment between now and Nov. 12. Life is short and it is the part of wisdom to make the best of it. Make the start NOW before it is too late.

Have you ever stopped to consider how much you have lost in time and money because of disease? You may not have lost a single day, but if you are unfortunately a sufferer from some chronic disease you are unable to make the most out of your work and therefore must necessarily be unable to do the work of a strong, healthy man. Just as an illustration, I met one of my former patients a few days ago and he remarked that he had gained thirty-seven pounds in weight and was making ten dollars per month more than he had ever done in his life before; simply because he was well, felt good and was therefore able to do more and better work. This is the story of hundreds whom I have treated. The increased amount they are able to earn soon pays for the treatment and in addition they are able to live and enjoy life as only a healthy person can. I can cite you to many similar instances and have hundreds of letters on file from grateful patients whom I have cured; who had vainly sought relief elsewhere, and are now satisfied and thankful.

Consider a moment and determine if you can afford to postpone getting well when health will bring you an increased income that will soon pay for your cure, making it really cost you nothing; and besides permit you to enjoy the blessings of health.

You may ask why I have been able to succeed in curing these diseases when so many others have failed. The reason is simply this:—instead of attempting the impossible feat of trying to successfully treat several hundred different diseases, I have for over fourteen years made a special study of only a few and thereby have been able to develop new and original methods; for THEY CURE where the others fail—restoring the diseased body to a normal and healthy condition.

Others Treat, I Cure

BLOOD POISON—I use only the most advanced methods in the treatment of blood poison and kindred diseases.

PROSTATIC ENLARGEMENT—This may result from a number of causes. The constant jarring and vibration of trains and trolley cars are a very potent cause. Bicycle riding and the use of riding implements on the farm are factors in producing this disease. In fact, the causes are so many and varied that fully 75 per cent. of all male adults are afflicted to a greater or lesser extent by this disease. The disease is so little understood, and as once of the principal symptoms is a pain in the back, it is usually called kidney trouble and treated with local applications or sedatives which can do no possible good whatever. I reduce the enlargement and have been able to cure about 90 per cent of all cases.

VARICOCELE—I cure Varicocele in a few days' or weeks' time without the use of the knife.

STRICTURE—I readily remove Stricture by my dissolvent method without the use of instruments.

RUPTURE, PILES, FISTULA, ETC., cured without detention from business and without the use of the knife.

If you live out of town write or write on what train you will arrive and I will arrange my engagements so that I can see you at once.

READ THESE—(A couple letters among the hundreds which I have on file)

Dr. W. E. Hardman, Fort Wayne, Ind.:

Dear Sir:—Several months ago I came to you seeking treatment for a very severe case of prostatic enlargement and stricture and am glad to inform you that, although it has been some time since you pronounced me a well man, I have had no recurrence of the trouble. Having been afflicted for many months without getting relief, I feel that it is not only my duty, but justice to you all and others who may be suffering from the same trouble, that I write these few words of gratitude. I might add that I am perfectly satisfied with the treatment and honorable business methods that you gave me and will not hesitate to recommend you to others who are afflicted as I was. I feel that the expense is nothing when taken into consideration the value received.

Yours very truly,

Name given on request to any one who is interested and you will be privileged to call and interview the party yourself if you desire.

Life is sacred, and given to us by an all-wise Creator for a purpose. You would not think of committing suicide, yet you are probably hastening an untimely end if you do not properly look after your health. The time to do it is NOW. Do not put it off until death stares you in the face, or until the disease has progressed so far as to make your cure impossible. Do not be foolishly misled into the belief that you have not the time to attend to your health. As important a thing as health cannot be neglected without disastrous results. A SOUND MIND IN A SOUND BODY IS A SHORT BUT FULL EXPRESSION OF A HAPPY STATE IN THIS WORLD.

I have been in Fort Wayne over two years and have built up the largest practice in my specialty in the state of Indiana. (I have the proofs.) This has been accomplished by doing the best work. Giving my patients the very best the world affords. In fact treating them exactly as I would like to be treated were I in their place. I use only clean advertising and clean business methods which naturally bring to me intelligent and self-respecting people; those who appreciate honest scientific methods. I have among my patients many of the best citizens of Fort Wayne and vicinity.

Call and investigate. It will cost you nothing. If I accept your case you can be certain of a cure.

NERVOUS BREAKDOWN and nearly all nervous diseases are the direct result of chronic or imperfectly treated Pelvic Diseases, such as Vericocele, Piles, Fistula, Stricture, etc. I do not only remove the cause, but my many years of experience in the treatment of nervous and pelvic diseases enable me by my special methods to revitalize the entire nervous system and to restore to perfect health nearly all sufferers from nervous breakdowns and vital weakness.

To Whom This May Concern:

This certifies that I have been treated by Dr. W. E. Hardman for PROSTATIC INFLAMMATION, STRICTURE and FISTULA; that he has cured me perfectly and I am thoroughly satisfied.

I have been examined and treated by a number of prominent physicians and specialists who did me no good whatever, and gave up my case as incurable, stating that my only hope lay in an operation and that would not promise a cure.

I have been told that my condition was one of the worst ever encountered and practically incurable.

I cannot recommend Dr. Hardman too highly.

CONDITION IS EXAGGERATED.

South Bend, Ind., Oct. 25.—Reports regarding the condition of United States Senator B. F. Shively, who is confined to his home here with a disabled foot, have been exaggerated, according to his physicians, but he says the senator can hardly recover in time to re-enter his campaign. An operation will probably be performed in a few days to remove a piece of dead bone from the injured foot.

Every Household in Fort Wayne Should Know How to Resist It.

The back aches because the kidneys are blockaded.

Help the kidneys with their work.

The back will ache no more.

It's the best proof, for it comes from Fort Wayne.

Mrs. Laura Caseldine, 301 West Superior street, Fort Wayne, Ind., says: "I do not hesitate to give the credit of my present good health to Doan's Kidney Pills. It would be almost impossible to fully describe the misery I endured from Kidney complaint. My back was in such bad shape that at times I had to take to my bed and I often got up in the morning feeling all tired out. For several years I suffered in that way and found no relief until I procured Doan's Kidney Pills. The contents of five boxes of this remedy restored me to good health and drove all symptoms of kidney complaint from my system."

WILL ORGANIZE TO WAGE A WAR ON CONSUMPTION

A. L. Johns Gets Commission from State Health Secretary.

At the instance of Dr. J. N. Hurty, secretary of the Indiana board of health, A. L. Johns has taken up the work of leading an organized fight on tuberculosis in Fort Wayne. Mr. Johns has been in conference with a number of prominent Fort Wayne citizens who have promised aid in the work and he is hopeful of directing an effective campaign against the white plague.

Mr. Johns wants an organization as the basis for an effective awakening of interest in the movement which follows government methods for following nature's remedy against the disease—correct living and sanitary conditions. The movement is to be largely preventive in its aim and it is contended by authorities everywhere that a very large percentage, if not all, the cases of consumption could be averted by proper attention to diet, outdoor living and sanitation.

Mr. Johns will shortly announce a meeting to be held for the organization of the movement in Fort Wayne.

Scoutmaster Jackson wishes to secure more boys between fourteen and eighteen years of age, and will answer any questions regarding the scouts that those desiring to join may submit.

On next Friday the Colonial theater will have special pictures for the Boy Scouts and the scouts will be given part of the receipts of the day.

MONEY OUTLOOK IS BRIGHTER, SAYS MR. BARRY

Winona Traction Man Home from a Financial Trip Eastward.

"We haven't yet succeeded, but the outlook is more favorable and I am not discouraged," said J. A. Barry today upon his return from an extended trip eastward in his effort to finance the propositon to construct a new interurban line between Fort Wayne and Warsaw.

Mr. Barry declined to go further into details at this time, but he made it plainly evident that he is still hopeful of interesting capital that will make the new road a certainty.

Questioned Mr. Jones.

President J. Levering Jones, of the Fort Wayne and Wabash Valley Traction company, responded to a summons to appear before the state railroad commission at Indianapolis Monday, to testify concerning the financial condition of the corporation. The commission has in mind a number of recommendations concerning improvements to the property to make life and property safer, and wishes to know exactly the ability of the road to follow the recommendations when made. There is no means of ascertaining the nature of the suggestions to be made by the commission, but in many circles the opinion prevails that the construction of block signals will be ordered upon all the traction lines in Indiana.

Managers Talk of Methods.

General Manager Emmons was present at a conference of managers of Indiana traction lines at Indianapolis yesterday, at which methods of operation were considered. Mr. Emmons strongly supported the double-order system used on the Fort Wayne and Wabash Valley lines, by which both the motorman and conductor not only receive a copy of the train order, but each is compelled to repeat it by telephone to the dispatcher at the time it is received, in order to be certain that each of the trainmen understands it.

Wabash Railroad Is Asked to Give to Public Enterprise.

Superintendent J. C. Sullivan, of the Wabash railroad, has given assurance to the Playgrounds association that he will seek to have his company add to the size of the present Broadway playground near McCulloch park by permitting the use of two lots owned by the railroad adjoining the site.

This was announced at a meeting of the Playground directors Monday evening, and if the additional land can be secured it will be transformed into a tennis court and an athletic field. The railroad company is not now using the land in question.

UNCLE WINS CASH AWARD.

The Hague Court Gives Decision in Dispute With Venezuela.

The Hague, Oct. 25.—The international court of arbitration rendered its decision in the Orinoco claims case today. The barge award is declared null on four points and the American company is awarded $46,867, with 3 per cent interest since June 16, 1903, and $7,000 costs.

The judgment is to be paid by Venezuela within two months. The tribunal rejected the American contention on the other points in dispute.

Today's decision disposes of a long-standing dispute between the United States and Venezuela. The Orinoco Steamship company, a New Jersey corporation, was granted certain exclusive privileges by the government of Venezuela, but the agreement was subseuently repudiated by President Castro. The steamship company instituted an action for $1,400,000 damages. The case was eventually submitted to Dr. Charles Barge, who as umpire awarded the company $28,700. The company appealed to the American government, which refused to accept the decision on the ground that it was contrary to the principles of international law.

After prolonged negotiations between Washington and Caracas, it was agreed to submit the whole matter to The Hague, where Dr. Denis asked that the Barge award be declared null as unjust and erroneous and the original claims settled on their merits.

FRENCH OBJECTION WITHDRAWN.

Paris, Oct. 25.—It is believed here that France has withdrawn its objection to the American plan for the regeneration of the finances of Liberia, provided Liberia promptly signs an agreement approving the recent frontier delimitation with France. The United States, it is said, is urging the little republic to agree to this provision.

DECLARE A DIVIDEND.

Hotel Directors Set Apart 1¼ Per Cent as Quarterly Profit.

Directors of the Fort Wayne Hotel company, in session Monday evening, declared a quarterly dividend of 1¼ per cent on the capital stock of the company, which will be paid to shareholders within the next few weeks. The figure was lowered from the former 1½ per cent in order to provide funds for contemplated improvements upon the Anthony hotel property. The meeting of the directors was held at the Commercial club rooms.

DON QUIXOTE'S SQUARE DEAL.

Some Advice to Sancho Panza That Still May Be Applied.

(Don Quixote.)

"Value thyself, Sancho, upon the lowliness of thy origin, and be not ashamed to own thyself descended from peasants; for when it is seen that thou art not thyself ashamed, nobody will endeavor to make thee so; and think it greater merit to be a virtuous mean man than a proud sinner of rank. Infinite is the number of those who, born of low extraction, have risen to the highest dignities, both papal and imperial; of this I could produce examples enough to tire thee.

"Remember, Sancho, if virtue be thy golden rule, and thou shouldst value thyself on doing virtuous actions, thou wilt have no cause to envy lords or princes; for blood is inherited, but virtue is acquired, and has an intrinsic worth which blood has not.

"This being so, as it really is, if peradventure one of thy kindred should come to see thee when thou art in thy island, do not despise or affront him, but cherish and make much of him; for in so doing thou wilt please God, who will have nobody despise his workmanship; and act agreeably to the well-ordered rights of nature.

"Shouldst thou take they wife along with thee—and it is not proper for those who govern to be long without a helpmeet—teach, instruct and polish her from her natural rudeness; for often all that a discreet governor can acquire is dissipated and lost by an ill-bred and foolish woman.

"If thou shouldst chance to become a widower, an event which may happen, and thy station entitles thee to a better match, seek not one that may serve thee for a hook and angling rod, or a friar's hood to receive alms in: for, believe me, whatever the judge's wife receives, the husband must account for at the general judgment, and will be made to pay fourfold after death for what he made no reckoning of in his life.

"Be not governed by the law of thine own will, which is apt to bear much sway with the ignorant, who presume upon being discerning.

"Let the tears of the poor find more compassion, but not more justice, from thee than the representations of the rich.

"Endeavor to sift out the truth amid the presents and promises of the rich, as well as the sighs and importunities of the poor.

"Whenever equity may justly temper the rigor of the law, let not the whole force of it bear on the delinquent; for the reputation of a severe judge is not equal to that of a compassionate one.

"If the scales of justice be at any time not evenly balanced, let it be by the weight of mercy, and not by the weight of a gift.

"Should it happen that the cause of thine enemy comes before thee, fix not thy mind upon the injury he has done thee, but upon the merits of the case.

"Let not private affection blind thee in another man's cause, for the errors committed thereby are often without remedy, and, should it be chargeable with one, it will be at the expense both of thy reputation and fortune.

"Should a beautiful woman come to demand justice, turn away thine eyes from her tears, and thy sense of hearing from her sighs, and consider at leisure the substance of her claim, unless thou wouldst have thy reason drowned in the one and thy integrity lost in the other.

"Him thou must punish with deeds, do not revile with words; for the pain of punishment is enough for the wretch to bear without the addition of ill language."

IN FOOTSTEPS OF MARK TWAIN.

A Story That Is Told of the Great American Humorist.

"One of the characters mentioned by Mark Twain in his inimitable story of travel rose to affluence in trade in Constantinople because he had been enshrined in the record," remarked a veteran globe trotter at a recent dinner. "It was inevitable that the patriotic Americans who visited the Golden Horn would pay a visit to Faraway Moses, impelled by both sentiment and curiosity and still prepared to bring away some souvenir of the visit. Now that the distinguished humorist and philosopher has passed away, there will come in time parties of globe trotters who will follow his trail around the globe and see with an interest warmed with deep affection the things, places and peoples he described with so much wit and charm of narrative.

"They still tell a story of Mark Twain in Cairo, which has to do with his perplexity while visiting the Pyramids with two Arab dragomen. The humorist never wrote it himself, so that it may be given for what it is worth. He knew enough of Arabic to fill the needs of an interchange between himself and the natives, but what was his surprise to discover he could not understand a word that his guides uttered. He was in a dilemma, because he desired to make some researches and it was imperative that he converse with these men, who were informed on much that he wanted to know. And what puzzled Mark Twain most was that never up to this time had he any trouble in understanding Arabic. Try as he would he could not make out what Hassan and Abdul were trying to tell him.

"Fortunately at the Pyramids he met a friend, to whom he explained the situation. The friend looked the two Arabs over from a distance and then looked puzzled. 'Wait here,' he said to Mr. Clemens, 'and I'll go and speak to those chaps and see what's wrong. Probably they are trying to talk to you in English.'

"The humorist watched him as he walked over to the guides, who fell silent as he approached. The American said something to them and they both answered him, saluting respectfully. He broke into a hearty laugh, wheeled and retraced his steps to where the author of 'Huckleberry Finn' awaited him.

"'Could you make out what they said?' asked Mr. Clemens.

"'Fairly,' said the American, 'but the solution of the mystery is easy.'

"'What is it my boy? Let us have light.'

"'Why,' Mark Twain's friend replied, 'your guides have no teeth. They speak gum Arabic!'"

For Business Use

There are a great many places and occasions when the possibility of getting extra heat immediately effects an economy by decreasing the discomfort of the worker. In the office, in the early morning or late at night, before or after the steamheat is on, it is of importance to have extra heat. In the builder's outside office, in the shipping room, in the checker's shack, on exposed lofts, in railroad stations, in studios, the

PERFECTION SMOKELESS OIL HEATER

Absolutely smokeless and odorless

is often a necessity. It is safe, smokeless and odorless. Apply a match, and it gives heat quickly. With four quarts of oil it burns nine hours. Has automatic-locking flame spreader, which prevents the wick from being turned high enough to smoke, and is easy to remove and drop back so that the wick can be cleaned in an instant.

It has a cool handle and a damper top. An indicator always shows the amount of oil in the font. The filler-cap it is put in like a cork in a bottle, and is attached to the font by a chain.

The burner body or gallery cannot become wedged, because of a new device in construction, and consequently, it can always be easily unscrewed in an instant for rewicking.

The Perfection Oil Heater is finished in japan or nickel. It is strong, durable, well made, built for service, yet light and ornamental.

CHORUS GIRL A SWIMMER.

Ethel Fleming Has Made a Record for Endurance at Staten Island.

(Pittsburg Gazette-Times.)

Ethel Fleming, at her home on Staten Island, in New York harbor, is known as the Surf Girl, because during the summer months she is in the water three and four hours a day. Little Miss Fleming has only been a chorus girl for about eighteen months, and when she appears at the Alvin theater next week in "The Summer Widowers," it will be the first time she has ever left New York city with any theatrical organization. Her parents were much averse to her going on the road, but when Lew Fields personally assured them that all the members of his companies were carefully chaperoned, they agreed to let her come to Pittsburg, which is as far west as this big organization will travel, going direct from here to Brooklyn.

Miss Fleming is nineteen years old and has quite a reputation in Staten Island as an endurance swimmer, having gone as far as seven miles before being picked up by the boats that would accompany her. She is strong and athletic, and takes a great interest in all outdoor sports.

CHATTING WITH THE GIRL WHO PLAYS THE BOY IN "THE BLUE BIRD."

New York, Oct. 25.—"If one can't be a real fairy, the next best thing is to play in fairy play, for it seems real, even if it isn't."

Little Miss Gladys Hulette swung her blue stockinged legs from the edge of a cushioned divan in the New theater's green room and observed that if old Father Time, of "The Blue Bird," would only take some of the unborn souls to the realm of the sprites instead of to the more prosaic earth, when he sets forth in his galley nightly at the New theater, she would indeed by quite happy. For Miss Gladys, blue-eyed and brown-haired, and as slender as a wind-tossed reed, has brought herself up on mythological and fairy tales, and the real doesn't seem real at all as she wanders through the Palace of Night, the domains of the witch-like Berylune and the shadowy Land of Memory, where grandfathers and grandmothers conveniently come to life, and where brothers and sisters, long thought to be dead, romp and play with one as they did before Fate stole them away.

Philosopher at Twelve Years.

At twelve this child of the stage is something of a philosopher, as well as a remarkable imitator of children. Fairy books taught her to read; tales of mythology taught her to reason, and Dickens and Thackeray schooled her in a language which now and then seems quaint in modern life. Possibly natural ability is responsible for the fact that in two weeks she memorized 2,500 lines and became proficient in the endless cues required in this, the longest part in Maeterlinck's charming story.

"It was not so hard to learn the lines," she said smilingly. "Somehow it is quite easy for me to remember things, particularly those I read. And to get what Mr. Ames calls the atmosphere of the play was even less difficult, because I love fairies, and to my mind 'The Blue Bird' is one of them—a fairy who keeps just out of reach. It is a little difficult being a real boy, even if one wears knickerbockers, but I have played a good many boy's parts, and I really know how to put my hands in my pockets and say, 'Oh, darn!'"

Miss Gladys should be fairly boyish by this time, for during her short life practically every role she has played has been masculine. She was the David, with dark blue knickerbockers and Cossack cut hair, in Mme. Kalich's production of "The Kreutzer Sonata," and the Greek boy, Bion, in the same artist's presentation of "Sappho and Phaon." In Mme. Nazimovas' production of "A Doll's House," in which she next appeared, she was cast as Ivan, and went back from Greek costume to the Cossack haircut and blue velvet breeches.

"They were all very good roles," she explained modestly, "but nothing like Tyltyl. There were not so many lines, and when I was with Mme. Nazimova all I had to do was to romp and play about the stage."

Recreation in Books.

While touring the country or filling long engagements in cities, little Miss Gladys' sole recreation is found in books and drawings. After a long run in Cincinnati Mrs. Frances I. Hulette, her mother, decided to express part of their traveling effects to their Brooklyn home, and her surprise was great when she found that Gladys had accumulated 102 pounds of fairy and mythological tales. This was where the child's pin money had gone. So great is her knowledge of this lore that Harrison Grey Fiske once said he did not believe there was a fairy character she did not know all about.

Gladys' stage debut was in a measure accidental. When Katie Barry was playing the rose of Fifi in "A Chinese Honeymoon," at the Casino theater, Mrs. Hulette was engaged to understudy her. One afternoon she took her child to watch a rehearsal. It was the little one's third birthday and the visit was in lieu of a birthday party. Perched on a seat the stage hands had placed for her in the wings, she sat hugging an enormous doll presented to her that morning by her mother. She was a pretty picture in the comic opera world, and attracted the attention of the late Sam S. Shubert, who was directing the rehearsal. At the end of the first act Mr. Shubert walked over and sat down beside the child, and there he stayed during the remainder of the afternoon. The next matinee tot and manager sat side by side in a proscenium box, and thereafter they were almost inseparable companions.

Improvising in "Wang."

Through Mr. Shubert Gladys was given the part of one of the kiddies in "Wang" when De Wolf Hopper revived the piece, and here she instantly showed dramatic talent. She was quick to learn, unfailing in her lines and resourceful. In one of the scenes Mr. Hopper brought a doll on the stage, whereupon the children chorused their delight. One night the comedian failed to make his entrance and Gladys, realizing that the performance was at stake, ran shouting to the wings, improvising lines as she went. Her high, treble shrieks reached Mr. Hopper in his dressing room and the veteran comedian dashed in front of the footlights with more improvised lines and saved the scene.

"I knew something had to be done and done quickly," said the demure little actress when the incident was called to her attention. "My mother always told me to mind my lines, but if things didn't go right to do something which would fool the audience, because, you know, an audience must never be kept waiting. So I cried for the doll and it was quite natural, for doesn't a small girl always want her baby?"

Miss Gladys has been more or less of a pet with managers and players alike, but she hasn't been spoiled. She is as natural off the stage as any other youngster and is not the sort to make friends by over-effusiveness. Harrison Grey Fiske was as fond of her as was Mr. Shubert, and on more than one occasion he spent afternoons searching bookstores for good reading matter the child would appreciate. Theodore Roberts, the masterly grandfather in "The Kreutzer Sonata," took a great interest in the child. One day Mrs. Hulette saw her exchanging queer signs with him and on inquiry was surprised to learn that the veteran actor had taught her daughter the deaf and dumb alphabet, and that they were playing their scenes, using this means of communication.

Picked Up Education.

"My mother says my education has been mostly picked up," said the child, keeping one ear open for the voice of the callboy, "and I am quite certain there are many things I don't know, but I read a great deal and I hope some day to be really learned. You know one must understand all about what he plays if one is to succeed. The actor cannot just say things that are written in a book and make the audience feel them unless he feels them himself; and one cannot feel things himself unless he knows what they are about. I learned my part in 'The Blue Bird' going on the cars to and from my home in Brooklyn, and I thought a great deal about the words Mr. Maeterlinck wrote, and as I thought them over they seemed very beautiful because the words form themselves into very wonderful thoughts. The whole idea of the play is that it makes one happy to search for happines, but you cannot always keep it when you find it. If you could you would have all happiness and no trials, and that wouldn't make you happy, would it? I would much rather be a lady in a play, and I know I will be some time when I outgrow knickerbockers. My mother tells me all the managers will make me play boy's parts as long as it is quite proper for me to wear trousers."

Knows Every Role.

Not only has Miss Gladys mastered her own role, but she has familiarized herself with the lines and cues of every other person in the production. While she is fond of the part of Tyltyl, she leans a bit toward tragedy, and is often found rehearsing the scenes played by older players. At a dress rehearsal last week the stage hands and children were sent to luncheon. They had been gone about fifteen minutes when Director Ames missed Gladys and Irene Brown, who plays the role of Mytyl. Small voices were heard in the auditorium, and on parting the portieres, the director saw the two children deep in the semi-tragic scene between Night and the Cat, as played by Miss Eleanor Moretti and Mr. Cecil Yapp. Gladys had enthroned herself as Night and the midget Irene was giving an admirable imitation of Mr. Yapp. The scene is a reasonably long one, but not a line did the children miss.

"When I grow up I hope to be a tragedienne," the child told the director; "but one can never tell."

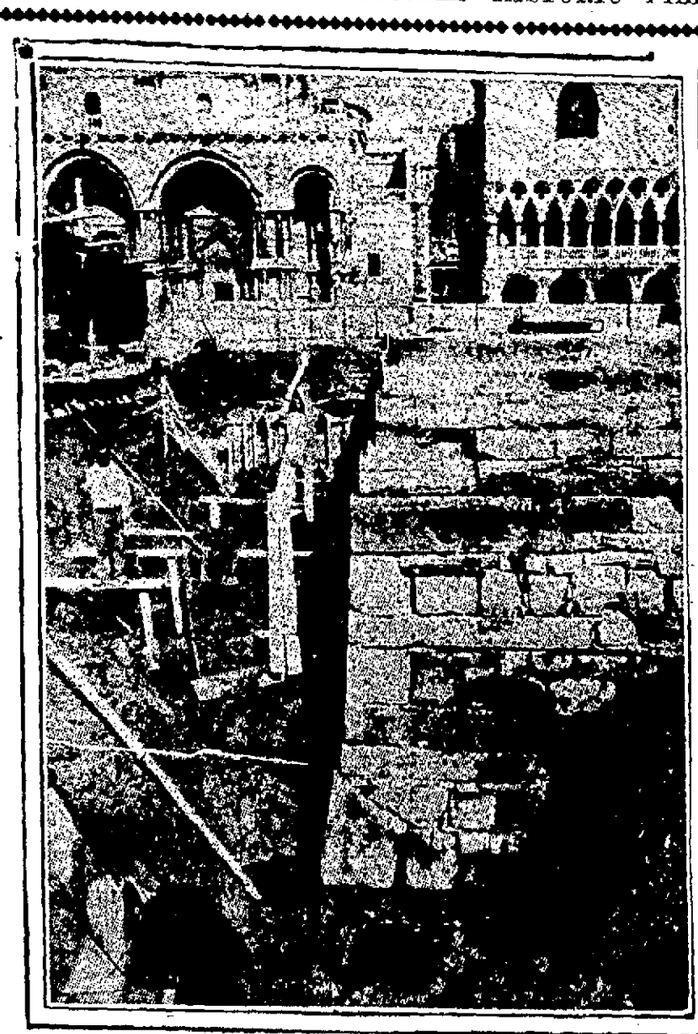
VENICE RESTORES HISTORIC PILE THAT FELL DOWN.



CLEANING AWAY AT THE FOUNDATIONS

SECTIONAL VIEW OF THE NEW CAMPANILE OF VENICE

The task of restoring the old campanile or bell tower of St. Mark's at Venice is nearing completion, and it is confidently expected that the bells of San Marco will break their nine years' silence and again ring out on St. Mark's day, April 25, 1914.

The restoration of this famous tower—which collapsed suddenly on July 14, 1902, after a proud existence of 1,014 years—has proved a greater undertaking than expected, some of the details presenting technical difficulties. The intention was to reproduce the old tower as faithfully as possible, and with that object in view the bricks, of which there are more than a million, were specially selected and laid. The bricks are each twelve inches long, six inches wide and three inches deep, and the clay is twice mixed to secure homogeneity.

These bricks, however, contained salt, which threatened to turn the tower white, and such an outcry was raised among the Venetians that the work was suspended while an inquiry was held. It was found that by prolonged soaking in water the salt was removed.

The tower is quadrangular, nearly forty feet square at the base and 350 feet high, including the pinnacle in the shape of a pyramid, the summit being crowned by the figure of an angel with spread wings. The foundations of the ancient buildings were found to be good, but none too wide, so that considerable strengthening had to be done. No scaffolding has been used, a sliding platform being contrived, to rise with the progress of the building.

GERMAN BANK NORMAL.

President of the Institution Speaks of Present Condition.

Berlin, Oct. 25.—President Havenstein, of the Reisch bank, at the meeting of the central committee today said that the position of the bank again was normal and satisfactory. The tendency of the rate of discount was downward. Berlin need not consider the raising of the bank rate.

Whether the present rate would hold until the end of the year depended, Mr. Havenstein said, on foreign exchange. The excess of gold imports for 1910 up to last Saturday was $36,250,000, of which the Reisch bank held $7,500,000.

HOW WE PAY OUR BILLS.

It takes billions to run a nation. These billions are raised by taxation. To have someone else pay one's taxes is the greatest of all law-made privileges. When to this is added the right of using the taxing power to kill competition, and to fill one's own pockets the privilege is colossal. It is too terrible to last. Almost all the insurgent movements of history have been a protest against the privilege of unjust taxation. In the United States the burden of the tariff and the excise taxes falls almost wholly on the common people. Practically every cent of the $550,000,000 now collected is paid by us. It is collected from the things we eat, drink, wear and use in our homes. It is collected by being added to the cost of everything we use. No other civilized nation dares to go as far as our lawmakers and their masters have gone in shifting the cost of national government from their own shoulders onto those of the people. Germany does not, and Germany is pretty nearly an absolutism. Great Britain does not, and the ruling class there is largely composed of an aristocracy of plantation owners and financial barons not unlike our own. Our ruling class, in distributing the burden of national taxation, deals most lightly with its own members. It takes nothing from their incomes, or their business, save such moneys as are yielded through the recently imposed tax on corporations.—November Everybody's Magazine.

LETTERS BY TELEPHONE.

(St. Paul Pioneer Press.)

A suggestion that seems to have considerable merit comes from a postal official in Kansas City. It is based upon the plan in general use by the telegraph companies of telephoning messages for the purpose of expediting their delivery, where the distance is long enough to make time a factor. The Kansas City suggestion is that a similar plan might be carried out by the government in the postal service. A certain stamp would designate a "telephone letter," and when such a stamped letter reaches the postoffice, instead of a special delivery, it is to be opened, and its contents read over the telephone to the addressee.

As the suggestion says, the length of such letters would have to be limited. But why wouldn't their use be of advantage to the public? A delay of several hours attends the delivery of letters in the residence district of cities. The "telephone letter" would be a sort of intermediary between the mail and the telegraph service. There would be plenty of occasions for its use.

WHAT ALDRICH REALLY WANTS?

The "Interests" Changing Position to Keep Ahead of Advancing Laws.

(Lincoln Steffens in November Everybody's.)

If my theory is right, our big men have their hands upon, and are becoming conscious of, a power which will enable them to hold together the constituent companies of their trusts, just as they hold together the railroads in their railroad trust; it will enable them to suppress competition inside and handicap their competitors outside. In other words, the animosity of public opinion to monopoly and the opposition of our political power to the growth of trusts, has simply forced our big, instinctive leaders of finance to seek another way to their goal. And they have found it.

Forbidden to merge their properties, they are merging themselves; forbidden to unite their railroads in holding company, they are getting hold of the banks which have a hold on all railroads, and, forbidden to make railroad rates which give their industrial trusts an advantage over competitors, they are preparing now to make money rates.

Guy Scull, the war correspondent, tells how he sat out part of a battle in South Africa, on the protected side of a hill, watching a big British gun at work. The first shell burst among the Boers and they scattered. But the big gun kept dropping shells on the abandoned ground. After watching the senseless proceedings a while Scull looked back to the lines and told the British officer in command of the gun that the Boers had moved from where he was aiming at. The faithful Britisher answered: "I've been ordered to fire at that place all day, and I shall obey my orders."

It is so with us and our government. Our big guns have been ordered to shoot at the place where the enemy were, and they are obeying orders.

They are still shooting at laws permitting combinations in restraint of trade. But the enemy has moved. What are they after now? Look in two directions at once and you will see. In Wall street they are after banks and at Washington they are after a central bank.

A national central bank may be a good thing. That's another question. And it's a question largely of method, management and control. But it's Aldrich who is preparing the bill for the bank—Aldrich, the floor leader of the combine in the senate which represents Wall street; the man who "fixed" the tariff law against us; and the railroad law; the "fixer" of most of our big legislation in the interest of Wall street. Aldrich has said that he means to round out his career with a bill that shall fix the methods, management and the control of the United States bank of banks. He still fights for everything else; for high protection for the trust products; for the right of railroads to pool their rates. And Wall street still wants those old things that it doesn't really need. But the thing that Aldrich really wants now, the all-important thing, is that bank bill which is being hatched out somewhere right now. That's what Aldrich is after. He has moved. And, in a strange coincidence, while he is moving for a central national holding bank, the men he represents are moving toward the control of the banking system of the nation.

This is no accident. Aldrich wouldn't be "after" a government bank to compete with our "private banks." They are all after something. What is it?

THE MARKETS

GRAIN AND PROVISIONS.

Chicago Market.

Chicago, Ill., Oct. 25.—With European crop advices generally more favorable and with news that the pressure of offerings from Argentine was increasing the wheat market here weakened today. Denial of yesterday's rumors that the import duty in France on potatoes and oats would be suspended caused further depression, although it was intimated that the rate for potatoes might be reduced. On the break, however, there was fair buying on the part of some of the houses that were prominent in the bull side of trading yesterday. The market opened ⅛@¼c to ⅝c down. December started at 92 to 92¼, a loss of ¼c to ½c and fell to 91⅞c.

A rush of selling by local shorts who covered yesterday carried down corn. December opened ⅛c to ⅜c off at 45½c to 45½c and dropped to 45⅛@45¼c.

Oats were less affected than wheat by the denials from Paris that France would interfere with import duties. Sales were only scattered. December started ¼@⅜c easier at 30⅝c, went down a shade more, and reacted to 30⅝c.

In the absence of any large offerings, scalpers bid up hog products. First prices were unchanged to 10c higher, with January at $17.40 for pork, $10.12½ for lard, and $9.20 for ribs.

STOCKS AND BONDS.

The Day on Wall Street.

New York, Oct. 25.—The opening dealings in stocks today showed evidence of continued selling to realize profits and declines were general. That in Rock Island preferred reached 1¾. St. Paul and Delaware & Hudson 1 and American Smelting and Toledo, St. Louis & Western ¾. General Electric rose 1 and Western Maryland ¾.

Prices were brought back to yesterday's close by the demand developed at the lower levels. Heavy offerings then appeared which sent prices down again to the lowest in many cases, after which they hardened again. Rock Island preferred sold at 64½, a decline of 3¼. Western Maryland preferred fell 2, the common 1, Southern Railway preferred 1¾, Bethlehem Steel 1½ and Kansas & Texas preferred, Iowa Central, Utah Copper, Tennessee Copper and Sloss-Sheffield Steel 1 point.

The market showed resistance to selling for foreign account, which was in a considerable volume during the first hour. Prices hardened slowly when Wabash preferred moved up 1½ points and Distillers' Securities 1⅝. Federal Steel preferred declined 1½ and Wheeling & Lake Erie second preferred, American Cotton Oil and American Linseed preferred 1. Bonds were irregular.

Prices slipped back when the market grew very dull, after Reading had gained a point. United States Steel and Union Pacific lost a large fraction of their rise. Denver & Rio Grande also lost a point.

Narrow fluctuations with a downward tendency characterized the later trading. Business was too scanty to induce any important market movements. Chicago, St. Paul, Minneapolis & Omaha improved 2¼ and Pullman and American Can preferred 1½. Denver & Rio Grande preferred ran off 2 points. Duluth, South Shore and Atlantic preferred 1¼ and Great Northern Ore Certificates 1.

The market closed weak and unsettled. There were advances in Minneapolis & St. Paul of 2¾, American Steel Foundries 1¾ and Republic Steel 1. TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO

What the Sentinel Had to Say About Persons and Events Twenty-Five Years Ago.

The town clock stopped again last night and needs attention.

Messrs. C. S. Woodworth and Carl Swain will shortly assume control of the Academy.

William Pennington, of Fort Wayne, was drawn on the federal grand jury at Indianapolis yesterday.

Marshal Dick Meyer has twin apples. The fruits are joined by a link and interest curious people.

The Empire Tea company opened its store in the Mayer house block today. An electric light will blaze there tonight.

County Surveyor O. B. Wiley was at Huntington yesterday in the interest of the Little River ditch.

The Lester & Allen minstrel party went away this morning. John L. Sullivan disappointed many people. He did not get drunk here.

M. H. Moynihan, of Asheville, N. C., is visiting relatives in the city. Mr. Moynihan is interested in a wholesale tobacco house at Nashville.

Frank E. Stouder, a pleasant young man, has been appointed treasurer of the Masonic Temple theater. The selection is well earned and very popular.

Rev. F. S. Brown, the new pastor of Wayne Street M. E. church, was tendered a welcoming reception by his parishioners last evening. Prof. W. F. Yocum delivered the address of welcome.

Hon. W. G. Colerick is circulating a petition urging the appointment of Hon. A. P. Edgerton, of this city, on the national civil service commission. It is a pleasure for The Sentinel to lend its unqualified endorsement to the movement in favor of Mr. Edgerton.

The following honorary committee has been appointed for the coming grand military ball: Gov. I. P. Gray and staff, Hon. C. E. Mahler, Sol Bash, William Fleming, D. S. Keil, John H. Bass, A. P. MAKING WEEDS DO VALUABLE WORK

(E. P. Powell in November Outing.)

Most of our weeds are our best farmers. They are busy working their roots down deep into the soil to bring up unclaimed elements, at the same time making the soil porous. Most of them have other uses, and I doubt if a single plant is in existence that illustrates "pure cussedness." Some of our very best vegetables were weeds when I was a boy.

The story of beggar weed is a good illustration. It got its bad name when it was supposed to be a weed and nothing more—the veriest plague of the cotton fields. A little while ago this same beggar weed was found to be the best forage and hay plant in the southern states. Horses, cows, pigs, hens, everything devours it with greediness. The leaves are even being ground up to make flour, out of which bread of a high quality is made. The velvet bean was a vine used only for ornament, but it has turned out to be a producer of the largest quantity of valuable hay and fodder known in the world.

Many of our weeds are valuable also as soil binders, while others, if handled rightly, lose all their troublesome qualities and can be added to our compost piles. There are a few weeds, mainly those that run under ground, or those that go to seed with great rapidity, which get in the way so badly as to deserve their evil reputation. Among these the Canadian thistle, the wild morning glory and quack grass are supreme for meanness.

In the southern states they have what they call maiden cane grass, which is only our couch grass magnified and intensified. It will take possession of land with astonishing rapidity, and its power to fight for the ground occupied is surprising. There is this thing about it, however, that even our couch grasses make good hay if cut early, and you can fertilize them to death. A good plan is to fence in these ungovernable pests to hogs—then move your hog pen around until you have cleaned out a good sized patch.

Salt kills some things, but that is no reason why it should be kept out of our gardens. It kills some of the worst weeds, but it stimulates grass and feeds asparagus. One of the very worst pests for a lawn is moneywort, but fed well with salt it passes away and at the same time grass takes its place. Use all your waste brine and anything else that contains salt on your asparagus, or around your quinces and pears. Thorough cultivation will take care of most of the annual weeds and one or two hoeings will do the rest of it. In the fall I leave my last crop of purslane and chickweed to bind the soil through the winter. This is advisable only where your soil slopes so as to wash badly during the thaws and floods and is not advisable anywhere near strawberry beds, for chickweed, if it ever gets in, will never give up until the strawberries are plowed out.

You must not burn weeds nor leaves. You must use your coal ashes, specially if your soil is heavy. You must not have a slop hole near your house, but you must compost the house waste as well as all other waste and feed it to your plants. Take off your hat to the brains that are at work everywhere about you. Do not get in the way and hinder and do not fail to understand.

Country home making in America is in its infancy. Our gardening is still almost as crude as that of the aborigines. We waste shamefully, and we overlook our best property. However, we are beginning to be able to see the way to make soil, to enrich soil, and to use it for all that it is worth without exhausting it. We shall soon have land in the United States that will feed 600,000,000 people, without serious crowding and without pinching poverty.

FREAK MARRIAGE CEREMONIALS

(Anna Steese Richardson in Detroit (News-Tribune.)

The young couple, face to face with the fuss and flurry of an elaborate wedding at which old social debts are to be paid and new ones incurred, can hardly be blamed for slipping away to their favorite clergyman, and begging him to tie the nuptial knot in his quiet study. But the young couple of perhaps a few weeks' acquaintance who take a "dare" or respond to a midnight supper impulse and motor to the doorstep of the nearest justice of the peace may be starting trouble for themselves and society.

At least a great many clergymen and magistrates are taking a stand against what some of them term freak marriage ceremonies. Magistrate Moses Herrman, of New York, has recently announced that he will not perform marriage ceremonies in his courtroom.

"I have refused to marry a great many couples," he said. "Marriage is sacred and hardly carries the right influence when it is performed in court with an assault case on one hand and a desertion case on the other.

"Young people should give more earnest, serious thought to marriage before taking on its responsibilities. A husband is not a dancing partner to be cast aside when he gets out of step, nor a supper companion to be discarded when the food is eaten and the lights burn low. Yet many young people go from a dance, a supper or the play to a clergyman or justice to have performed the most sacred ceremony of their lives. It is wrong, all wrong. Weddings should be celebrated under quiet, impressive conditions, not just anywhere or anyhow."

Whatever the connection between the increasing number of divorces and the semi-sensational marriage ceremony certain it is that the modern young people are apt to be both resourceful and daring. Today love laughs not only at locksmiths, but at almost any man-made obstacle to the end it desires to achieve.

Blankets and Comforts

Fresh air is the style now, fresh air to keep the body and mind in health. Sleeping out of doors or in well ventilated rooms, drinking in an abundance of purifying oxygen, will do much toward preserving and restoring health. Warm covering is essential and whether it be of wool or cotton, it must be pure, clean and sanitary. Our blankets and comforts are of the right sort, as clean and pure as the best process of manufacture can make them and with all their merit most reasonably priced.

Cotton Blankets, liberal in size and weight, as low as 65c, then 75c, 90c, $1.00, $1.25, $1.50 and up to the finest that look like wool and feel like wool, at from $2.00 to $4.00 a pair. Some in fancy plaids and all with pretty borders.

Wool Blankets in white with fancy borders and in fancy plaids in dainty colorings. Wool Blankets that are just a little better because they are made of good wool and made right. We make a special showing of wool blankets in white and fancy plaids at $5.00 a pair; better ones at $5.50, $6.00, $7.50, $8.50 and up to $15.00.

Comforts filled with clean, sanitary cotton and covered with choice silkolines and satines, in pretty designs and colorings. Some with plain borders, some with one side of plain color. Comforts of silk filled with the finest down, delightfully soft and warm.

Cotton Comforts at $1.00, $1.25, $1.50, $1.75, $2.00 and up to $4.50.

Down-Filled Comforts from $5.75 to $30.00.
